PHONE CABLE EXTENSION TO COST $50,000

Wisconsin Telephone Company Plans Big Improvement in City Service.

LONG CONDUIT IS PLANNED

Wires Will Be Carried to Fourth Ward Underground Instead of on Poles.

Telephone cable extensions to cost approximately $50,000 are to be started at once by the Wisconsin Telephone company, it was announced Tuesday by J. T. Quinlan, district manager. The largest project will be the installation of an underground conduit from the corner of Superior and Lawrence streets to the corner of South River and Lake streets. Application for a permit to install this conduit is now before the common council.

These elaborate extensions will provide service for many residents who cannot be served with the present equipment. The demand for telephone installations has far exceeded the company's ability to fill them and extensions of line were made imperative.

The conduit from Lawrence and Superior streets will go south on Appleton street to Lake street, under the river and will leave the ground at the corner of Lake and South River streets. The wires are now carried to the Fourth ward on poles which will be taken down as soon as the underground cable is completed. The conduit will contain 324 pairs of composite duplex wires, 300 pairs to be for local subscribers and 24 pairs for toll lines to Milwaukee and Sheboygan.

Anothe rambitious project will be an extension of a 400 pair underground cable from the central office to a point in the Midway, in the rear of Uckerman's grocery store, and an extension of 600 pairs of wire from that point to Morrison street. The conduit for these cables was installed when the central office was built and the cables will be pulled in through manholes.

Fourteen major aerial cable extensions and numerous minor projects are to be started at once.

The major projects include a 100 pair cable extension from Pearl street to the territory on High, Seventh and Elm streets; 50 pair cable extension on Lake street, from Harrison to Foster streets; 100 pair cable extension on South river, from Lake to South Division streets; 50 pair cable extension on Madison, from Main to Maple streets; 300 pair cable extension on South Island street; 25 pair extension on Railroad avenue; 200 pair extension on South River street; 50 pair extension on South Water street; 100 pair extension on Prospect street; 300 pair aerial cable on Durkee street, from Washington to Pacific streets, and on Pacific from Durkee to Meade streets; 100 pair aerial cable on extension of Meade street between Atlantic and Winnebago streets; 100 pair aerial cable extension on Catherine street, from Washington to North streets; 100 pair extension on North, from Catherine to Tonka streets.

Twenty-five pair cables are to branch each at every block from the Pacific and Durkee street cables and branch cables are to replace the open and twisted pair wire on Meade street, between Washington and North streets.

This work will require several weeks to complete and will provide the telephone company with sufficient cables to take care of the demand for telephones. The improvemnts will be particularly noticeable on the water power, the super Fourth ward and in the First ward.

STRANGE "CAT" DRIVES FIREMEN OUT OF DOORS

By United Press Leased Wire

Milwaukee, Wis.—Firemen's uniforms are in demand here today.

Members of the Broadway engine house awoke from a sound sleep last night to find themselves half suffocated and their sleeping quarters saturated with an unfamiliar odor.

Two "night hawks" started chasing a "cat" and two firemen headed it into the fire station without first establishing its identity.

Cornered in the fire station it established its identity. A patrolman with a riot shotgun dispensed Mr. Skunk.

The firemen spent the rest of the night on chairs in front of the engine house.

WILSON'S PLANS FOR FIUME ARE REJECTED

By United Press Leased Wire

Rome—The Idea Nazionale declared today an agreement was reached between Premiers Giolitti and Millerand at Aix les Bains whereby President Wilson's plans for making Fiume a free city under the league of nations were discarded and a tentative agreement reached for annexation of that port by Italy.

The newspaper further stated the main provisions of the pact of London, except that portion which does not award Fiume to Itaiy, were reviewed.

The pact of London was the agreement between Italy and the entente whereby the former was to receive certain Austro-Hungarian territory for entering the war on the side of the allies.

Makes Plans For Funeral

By United Press Leased Wire

London — Terence MacSwiney, hunger striking lord mayor of Cork, was in a raving delirium during a great deal of last night, his sister Annie declared today as she left Brixton prison after visiting him.

Imagining he was leading a Sinn Fein army, MacSwiney talked wildly and shouted commands, his sister said.

This morning, realizing he might betray Sinn Fein secrets while raving, he asked his relatives to forcibly gag him if he became delerious while prison doctors were present.

London—The latest bulletin from Sinn Fein headquarters today said the condition of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, remained unchanged.

Physicians were puzzled over MacSwiney's grip on life. Although practically in a comatose condition, the hunger striking prisoner was conscious.

He talked with his wife yesterday, whispering to her his desires as to funeral rites. He asked her to arange for simple Catholic services with the funeral orations all in the Irish tongue.

Despite MacSwiney's request, Sinn Fein leaders said they planned to make the services the greatest demonstration in Ireland's history.

Physicians reiterated their assertions MacSwiney will be given nourishment when he becomes unconscious.

Medical men refused predictions as to how long prisoner may live. His alternating gains and relapses have puzzled them. Yesterday only a stethoscope could detect a heart beat, yet he was conscious and strong enough to whisper.

Nine former lord mayors of Cork signed a joint appeal to Premier Lloyd George. Members of the Irish "peace conference committee" wired the premier that the freeing of MacSwiney and other hunger strikers from Cork was "indispensable to a successful Irish peace."

This was signed by Sir Horace Plunkett, Major Generals Hickie and McGowan and others.

The Dublin association of municipal authorities honored MacSwiney by electing him president of the organization.

Mary MacSwiney appealed to Americans to force their government to call in British loans. Her idea was that withdrawal of support from British industry would mean a virtual blockade of England and that her brother's freedom could be forced thereby.

SOVIETS READY TO START NEW DRIVE

Reds Will Wage Winter Campaign Unless Poles Accept Peace Terms.

(By Webb Miller)
By United Press Leased Wire

London—With re-organization of their armies complete, following general mobilization, the bolsheviki are about to start a general offensive against Poland, according to unofficial advices received here today.

The object of this campaign on a major scale is to regain Russia's shattered military prestige, principally through capture of Warsaw, the dispatches said.

Fighting was reported under way on the entire Polish front, particularly in the Lemberg region. War Minister Trotzky is said to have arrived in Lithuania to direct the offensive.

Fighting between the Poles and Lithuanians in the Augustof region, had ceased, pending action by the league of nations and it was believed the bolsheviki would take over the line which the Lithuanians temporarily occupied.

The bolsheviki were reported to be prepared for a great winter campaign unless the Poles submit to a victor's peace, when negotiations are resumed at Riga.

The British foreign office was officially informed the Poles were prepared to make great concessions at Riga.

Huge Red reserves were reported to be concentrating on the upper Dneiper and Berezina.

CONNECTICUTT TO VOTE AGAIN ON SUFFRAGE

By United Press Leased Wire

Hartford, Conn.—The Connecticut legislature, which yesterday ratified the federal suffrage amendment, must vote on that measure again.

Governor Marcus Holcomb, believing yesterday's action unconstitutional, has called another special session for Tuesday for the special purpose of acting upon the amendment.

SOCIALISTS WANT TO RETURN EXPELLED MEN

By United Press Leased Wire

New York—In the hope of returning to the legislature the five assemblymen ousted last winter, the socialists of New York today wound up one of the hottest campaigns of their party, preparatory to tomorrow's special election.

A special appeal was made today to Mayor Hylan by Julius Gerber, executive secretary of the socialist party of New York, to take adequate steps to prevent irregularities at the polls.

INVITE WILSON TO ASSIST IN COX CAMPAIGN

Democratic National Chairman Accepts President's Offer to Help.

LEADERS ARE DELIGHTED

E.H. Moore Denies Plan to Change Leadership of Democratic Party.

By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—President Wilson is to be invited by the democratic national committee to participate actively in the campaign for Cox and Roosevelt.

This announcement was made today by George White, national chairman, following his receipt of intimations from the White House that the president would be willing to contribute such effort as he may be able.

Washington, D. C. — Democratic leaders have refrained from asking President Wilson to take part in the presidential campaign because they do not wish to "impose on him," E. H. Moore, an unofficial party leader and confident of Governor Cox, said here today.

This was Moore's comment on an intimation from a source close to the president that Wilson is willing to do anything he can that he is asked to do to help Cox.

"It would be rather a delicate matter to ask the president to task his strength to take part in the campaign," Moore said.

"Everybody would be delighted, of course, if he were able to help. His aid would be of the greatest value."

Moore declared emphatically there was no foundation for reports circulated here that the president was asked to keep his hands off and let Cox run the campaign without White House advice.

Moore also denied he was here to arrange a "new deal" in democratic party leadership as a means of providing better coordination of democratic campaign activities. He said there was nothing in reports that he had come to Washington to raise democratic campaign funds.

He said conferences he had with Joseph P. Tumulty, the president's secretary, Attorney General Palmer and Frank P. Walsh, were "social-political" but none of them indicated any move to change the present management of the democratic campaign.

ARREST SUSPECT IN MAIL ROBBERY

Fred Geisler, Arrested in Buffalo, Charged With Robbery in Neenah.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Postoffice officials today announced the arrest Fred Geisler, alias Fred Koch, an ex-soldier, here, for the alleged theft of $10,000 in cash and $12,000in negotiable securities from a baggage car on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad at Neenah, Wis., August 31.

The man was taken back to Wisconsin by Adam M. Otto, Chicago postoffice inspector, and H. L. Luft, agent of the railroad.

Geisler was employed in the baggage room of the station at Neenah. It is alleged Geisler after stealing two mail bags containing the securities and cash, buried them. Wisconsin authorities today are digging for the mail bags, officials said. The loot was consigned to a Neenah bank.

HARDING URGES NEW WORLD LEAGUE PLAN

By United Press Leased Wire

Marion, Ohio.—A new proposal to other nations for prevention of war and establishing friendly relations, was urged by Warren G. Harding today in a letter to republican women throughout the country.

"We are all desirous of preventing war," Harding said.

"Let us not break the heart of the world by any more delusions. Let us unite America behind a new proposal to the other nations for the prevention of war and for amicable relationships in world administration. Let us, in doing this, preserve our own national conscience at home and not check it at Geneva. Let us establish a workable relationship. We don't want one which is fair in promise, while it fails to prevent useless bloodshed, to which our men's veins would contribute.

Harding pleaded especially that women line up with either of the two big parties, declaring the two party system has brought progress and prosperity.

"Our two party system has lasted longer in the United States than any other political system now existing under any constitutional government," he wrote.

Dry Delegates Arrive

Washington—Foreign delegates began arriving here today for the fifteenth international congress against alcoholism which opens Sept. 21.

The state department named patronesses of different states to serve with the committee on women activities during the congress.

French President Is To Leave Office This Week

By United Press Leased Wire

Paris—President Deschanel is to resign this week, the French foreign office admitted today.

The president is suffering from neurasthenia, it was said, and his mental condition is worse than his physical.

A meeting of the cabinet was expected to be called immediately upon the return of Premier Millerand from Switzerland to consider Deschanel's successor.

The cabinet, it is said, will be summoned Friday. That body would then call an extraordinary session of the senate and chamber of deputies to receive Deschanel's resignation, instead of waiting for the regular October session.

The Echo de Paris declared that Millerand has assured his friends he is not a candidate for the presidency.

Paul Deschanel at the age of sixty-four, was elected president of France. It was the climax of a long public career in which he had served in minor capacities in several departments.

Before election he was a member of the chamber of deputies and presided over that body.

His election as president aroused little enthusiasm. It was regarded largely as a rebuke to his opponent, Premier Clemenceau.

Deschanel's former mental vigor appeared lacking after his election and there were many rumors as to his physical condition. Recently he has been in the country under care of a physician. Shortly after his election Deschanel was found by a railway track wandering along the road in his night clothing. He explained he had either walked or fallen from a moving train in his sleep.

The president was regarded as a handsome and magnetic man.

GOV. COX INVADES BORAH TERRITORY

Democrat Is Given Rousing Reception in Home State of League Enemy.

(By Herbert W. Walker)
By United Press Leased Wire

Pocatello, Idaho—Governor James M. Cox, speaking here today, challenged Senator Harding and the republicans to present a definite international plan better han the league of nations.

"The thing for critics to do is to give us something better or maintain silence," he said.

"The covenant was made a political football in the hope of winning this election. History will record the senate conspiracy to hold up civilization by its heels as one of the most apprehensible of all time."

Enroute with Governor Cox, Pocatello, Idaho.—Governor James M. Cox, today was to wage his nation-wide stump battle in Utah, the home state of Senator Reed Smoot, whom the democratic candidate has been attacking as one of three leaders of the "senatorial oligarchy."

All records for "before breakfast speeches" of the tour, were broken when Cox closed his Idaho campaign with rear platform talks to early risers here this morning.

Considering Senator Borah's apparent strength in Idaho, Cox's reception in Boise last night was a surprise. Nearly 6,000 persons listened to him speak. Many times he drew applause although the demonstration waned somewhat when the governor spoke of the league nations.

In Salt Lake City tonight Cox will address a mass-meeting in the tabernacle. He has not indicated how he will deal with the Utah situation, other than he favored diverting armament expenditures to development of western lands and construction of highways, if the United States, by the November election, decided to enter the league.

Tomorrow Cox will devote considerable time to study of the Japanese question as he again travels west for his invasion of California.

Cox today indicated that in California he will attack Senator Warren G. Harding's statement of yesterday on his Pacific coast policy as being "too indefinite."

BELOIT BOY WAKING FROM 9 WEEKS' SLEEP

By United Press Leased Wire

Beloit, Wis.—Earl Abbott, Beloit's sleeping sickness victim, who yesterday began his ninth week of continuous slumber, is on the road to complete recovery, according to the physicians in charge here today.

Abbott is slowly coming out of his lethargy, having his eyes open yesterday and recognizing the doctor and various members of his family. The patient understands what is said to him and he can move his arms, but very slowly. He yawns almost continuously when disturbed and snores much of the time.

The sickness, physicians say, is an inflammation of the brain and spinal cord. The inflammation is now decreasing and Abbott's slow recovery is anticipated. Four cases of the disease have been found in Beloit the past decade, two of the patients dying.

One other, besides Abbott, has recovered.

GREEN BAY MAN SAYS HE WAS ROBBED ON TRAIN

By United Press Leased Wire

Des Moines, Ia. — W. E. Mullen, Green Bay, Wis., today reported to Des Moines police that he had been held up and robbed of his wallet by two men while a passenger on a Rock Island train. The wallet contained $36 in cash and two bank drafts for $350 each and two bank deposit slips totalling $1,300, Mullen said.

Mullen declared the robbers leaped from the moving train after they had taken his wallet.

$1,000,000 Fire in Texas

Ranger, Texas—Fire of undetermined origin today destroyed most of two business blocks here causing an estimated loss of $1,000,000. One fireman was seriously injured.

The fire started in a rooming house.

HARDING HAS QUIET DAY ON HIS PORCH

Expect Definite Announcement of Campaign Plans for Next Month.

(By Raymond Clapper)
By United Press Leased Wire

Marion, Ohio.—All was quiet on Senator Warren G. Harding's front porch today and the republican candidate had his first off day in more than a week.

No delegations were scheduled until Friday when a number of groups from various Ohio counties come here to observe constitutional day.

Official announcement as to Harding's campaign plans from September 25 until election day is expected shortly. Contradictory intimations regarding the scope of the speaking trips contemplated have been prevalent here this week. Once it was intimated a Pacific coast trip was a strong probability. Now the project seems to have been abandoned.

Best information indicates Harding will make a number of short speaking trips out of Marion, none to last more than a week or ten days. He will probably go no further west than Sioux Falls, S. D. The plan for speeches still stand, it was announced, as does that for several eastern speeches.

NORTHWEST RAILROADS HIT BY COAL SHORTAGE

By United Press Leased Wire

St. Paul—Railroads of the northwest may be forced to curtail service, with high prices and transportation congestion and await the outcome unless more bituminous coal reaches this section before winter, J. M. Hannaford, president of the Northern Pacific, predicted. Coal docks at the head of the lakes are short over 4,000,000 tons of bituminous coal for railroads alone, he said.

He said under normal conditions there should be over 5,000,000 tons of coal at Duluth and Superior for railroad use. There is now not more than half a million tons in storage, he said.

Railroads cannot operate without coal, Hannaford pointed out and said they might be forced into the open market, bidding against northwest industries for coal badly needed for production. This would create a situation inestimably serious.

"REGULARS" ARE WINNERS IN NEW YORK PRIMARIES

By United Press Leased Wire

Albany, N. Y.—Republican and democratic organization candidates swept New York state in the primary yesterday, according to virtually complete returns today.

Judge Nathan L. Miller received the republican gubernatorial nomination, defeating Senator George F. Thompson by more than 120,000.

James W. Wadsworth, Jr., was renominated republican candidate for United States senator.

Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who was unopposed, received the democratic nomination to succeed himself. The democratic candidate for United States senator is Lieut. Gov. Harry C. Walker, who defeated George R. Lunn, anti-Tammany aspirant, about 3 to 1.

JAPS SEEK SETTLEMENT OF LAND OWNING PROBLEM

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington — Ambassador Shidehara of Japan, has been authorized by his government to open immediately negotiations for a satisfactory settlement of the situation created by the proposed California law to prohibit land holding by Japanese, it was learned today at the state department.

Although informal conversations have been on for some time between the department and ambassador, actual negotiations have not yet started.

Alarm Foils Yeggs

By United Press Leased Wire

Aberdeen, S. D.—After cutting the telephone and telegraph wires and breaking into a railroad section house to obtain tools, yeggs broke into a bank at Egan, S. D., yesterday morning.

Burglar alarms in the bank awoke the town and the foiled yeggs dashed to a waiting auto and escaped in a fusillade of shots.

JAPAN READY TO FIGHT FOR RACE EQUALITY

Selects General Assembly of World League as Its Battleground.

AMERICA IS EXCLUDED

United States Will Not Have an Opportunity to Fight Jap Demand.

(By Henry Wood)
By United Press Leased Wire

Paris.—The question of racial equality for the Japanese, over which the Versailles peace conference nearly split, will be one of the most important problems confronting the general assembly of the league of nations when it meets November 15 in Geneva, in pursuance to the call of President Wilson.

Having failed to get recognition in the treaty of Versailles, owing largely to opposition of American and British colonial delegates, Japan proposes to bring the matter before the league assembly, it was learned.

The belief was expressed if Japan fails to win the racial recognition that would give her emigrants equal rights and privileges with these of any other country, she will withdraw from the league.

In preparation for the fight she expects to make, Japan has retained accommodations at Geneva for the largest delegation that has manifested its intention of attending the assembly meeting.

According to rumors in Paris diplomatic circles, Viscount Ishii, Japanese foreign minister, may be present to conduct the negotiations.

During the Versailles conference this question of racial equality came close to causing an even more dangerous schism than the one over Fiume, when the Italian delegation withdrew.

It was an open secret that the temporary award of Shantung to Japana was a reward for her decision to stir up no serious trouble.

Diplomats here regard Japan's decision to make the first meeting of the league assembly the battleground, a most strategic one.

At the Geneva meeting the Japanese will not face much opposition. America, not being a member of the league, will have nothing to say about it.

As to the British colonies, particulary Canada, Australia and New Zealand, they can only make their protest heard through the British delegation. Desirous as the mother country may be to meet their wishes, her alliance with Japan is such her attitude is expected hardly better than neutral.

HARTNESS STILL LEADS IN VERMONT PRIMARIES

Montpelier, Vt. — James Hartness was still in the lead today in the race for the republican gubernatorial nomination, primary returns indicated.

Returns from 178 out of 248 cities and towns showed Hartness had a lead of approximately 5,103 votes over his nearest opponent, Curtis S. Emery.

There were no contests on the democratic ticket.

66,000 Majority

Augusta, Maine—Returns today continued to maintain the big republican plurality in the election of Monday.

Frederick H. Parkhurst, according to latest returns, had a plurality of nearly 66,000 votes over Bertrand McIntyre, democratic candidate for governor.

Clerk Captures Bandit

Aberdeen, S. D.—In a battle with two bandits who drove up to his store at Carlyle, near here, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and attempted to hold up the place, Eric Sigmund, clerk in charge, shot and captured one of the bandits, wounding the other who made his escape in a roadster.

Auto Party Near Death

Guy Whitman, Ida Adams and Rose Stigner of Appleton, and William Austin of Turin, Mich., had a miraculous escape from instant death at 11:20 o'clock Sunday night when Mr. Whitman's Ford car in which they were returning from Manitowoc plunged down a fifty foot embankment on Beaulean hill, two miles from Kaukauna.

Mr. Austin was driving and lost control of the car as it started to descend the hill. "We were going about twenty miles an hour," said Mr. Whitman in speaking of the accident Wednesday morning. "I don't know what hapened but all of a sudden the car started down the embankment end over end. It must have made three somersaults before it got caught on the stump of a small tree that penetrated the engine and held it."

The passengers were thrown out when the car made its first somersault. With the exception of a few slight cuts and bruises none of them were injured. Mr. Whitman was sitting beside the rear wheel of the car when it became lodged on the stump, but is unable to tell how he got there.

The members of the party were brought home by a Fourth ward resident who passed that way shortly after the accident. The car is in a local garage with its radiator badly damaged and the two rear wheels crushed. The engine was put out of commission and the body was stripped of fenders, running boards, mudguards and lights.

POLICE ON GUARD AT ILLINOIS POLLS

Bitter Factional Fight for Control of G. O. P. Reaches Climax in Primary.

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—Bloodshed occurred in the state primary here today when Michael Fennessey, a worker for a democratic candidate for state senator, was shot and killed by Thomas Powers, a policeman.

The shooting followed an argument near a voting booth. Powers was arrested.

Chicago—Illinois voters went to closely guarded and carefully watched polls today to choose their state tickets with republicans expressing their choice between the leadership of Frank O. Lowden, present governor, or William Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago.

The factional fight in the republican campaign was so bitter that both sides assigned private watchers to the voting booths to seek possible trickery or fraud.

The situation in Chicago, Cook county, was tense and officials were ready for violence. Police officials were assigned to all polling places in the city. The Lowden backers, contended police were under the control of the Thompson faction and Sheriff Peters, a Lowdon supporter, assigned deputy sheriffs to watch the polling places and the police.

District Attorney Hoyne's force of detectives augmented by 100 men sworn in for the occasion, also was a constant guard.

While neither Lowden or Thompson were candidates for office at the primary the factions which they head had complete state tickets in Illinois.

In the final campaign rallies held throughout the state last night, the Lowdenites declared Thompson had wrecked Chicago financially and now only desired to get his grisp on the state funds.

Londen was declared to be playing the game of the "interests" and in the clutches of the public service corporations by Thompson speakers.

The Lowden ticket was headed by William B. McKinley, candidate for U. S. senator, and John G. Oglesby for governor. The Thompson slate was led by Frank Smith for senator and Len Small for governor.

The democrats showed little fight in their senatorial, congressional and state fights, although many hot local battles were to be settled.

Early today four men were arrested by deputies from the state's attorney's office on the charge of soliciting votes inside polling places. They were released on habeas corpus proceedings.

Political leaders said early reports indicated a record vote. Balloting in Cook county was exceptionally heavy. A total vote of 500,000 was predicted in the county and more than 1,600,000 in the state.

CONNECTICUT SUFFRAGE LAW REACHES COLBY

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington—Secretary of State Colby today was presented Connecticut's certificate of ratification of the woman suffrage amendment by Miss Catherine Flanagan, of the national woman's party.

The Connecticut certificate will be filed at the state department without ceremony as Secretary Colby has already issued a formal proclamation of ratification.

Refused Citizenship

Milwaukee—When Aaron Goldshtrach, who has now changed his name to Gold, told naturalization examiners he was willing to fight all-comers in defense of the United States, he was admitted to citizenship. But the case of Cedeor Laranoff, who claimed exemption in the war as he was an alien enemy, was dismissed.

SOLUTION OF ITALIAN ROW IS IMMINENT

Epoch Making Decisions Expected at Meeting of Workers and Employers.

WORKERS BOOST DEMANDS

Employers Willing to Make Concessions But Will Not Relinquish Rights.

(By Camillo Cianfara)
By United Press Leased Wire

Rome—Solution of the economic controversy in Italy has passed into the hands of the Confederation of Labor, representing nearly 2,000,000 workers and the Confederation of Industries, representing more than $2,000,000,000 capital, according to Senator Conti.

The meeting of the confederation of industries in Milan today was expected to reach epoch-making decisions affecting Italy's national and industrial life.

While the manufacturers were not opposed to permitting the workers to share in the profits and allowing them representation in the administration of each industry, they will oppose any attempt of the unions to intervene in the active management or limit technical and financial directors, it was learned from authoritative sources.

By United Press Leased Wire

Rome—Conflicting elements, each seeking to employ the economic crisis in Italy to attain their own ends, have succeeded in so involving the situation it has become a maze of industrial, social and political cross-currents.

Despite the growing optimism in official circles, the situation apparently is becoming graver owing to the inability of anyone to coalesce these elements in attaining a common end.

According to the best obtainable information today the various phases of the situation were:

The extreme radicals in Italy, abetted by the corresponding element in adjacent countries were striving to influence the workers to turn the economic steps they have taken into political action, overthrowing the monarchy and setting up a soviet government embodying all the principles of the Third Internationale.

The manufacturers were blocking any attempt at a settlement that would imply a victory for their employes. Some reports stated a number of the employers were willing to institute a profit-sharing system in the factories, fearing the workers may succeed in wholly eliminating capitalism from the economic scheme.

Increase Demands

The great majority of workmen, who at first began taking over the metal factories, merely to prevent a threatened lockout, were gradually increasing their demands as they realize their power.

It appeared certain they were determined not to return to the status quo and that the proposed profit-sharing plan is the least they will accept.

The government which has stepped in to referee the present negotiations between manufacturers and workers at Milan, is still inclined to maintain a "hands off" policy but the government has issued a warning that armed intervention will follow immediately any attempt to throw the conflict into politics.

From the metal workers, the movement has spread to the farms, the mines and the chemical industries. Railway workers, cooperating with the strikers, have forced soldiers to evacuate troop trains in the northern provinces.

Government officials and the Italian press express confidence a satisfactory settlement will be speedily reached at the Milan conference.

Seize More Factories

Reports here today indicated a few additional seizure of factories. At Verona, Deputy Sciavallo, socialist, led a group of carmen which, at revolver points, occupied a tool factory and evicted the owner and his family from their residence.

Employes of the Di Beneditti hosiery factory at Turin were reported to have killed the proprietor. The local chamber of labor in Brescia called a general strike there because troops occupied all power houses to insure a supply for industrial plants.

Foreign newspaper correspondents in Milan predicted the acute phase of the industrial crisis is past. They expressed the belief the government will enact legislation recognizing the right of operatives to control the factories.

BREWERY WORKERS SAY PROHIBITION IS CRIME

By United Press Leased Wire

Milwaukee.—"The greatest fraud and crime committed on a nation supposed to be living under a representative government."

That's prohibition, according to resolutions adopted by the International Union of United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America at their annual convention here Tuesday.

Furthermore, they allege, "war-time prohibition went into effect through fraud and political treachery and constitutional prohibition was passed in the same manner."

The locals at Winnipeg were deprived of financial support by the International union because of their affiliation with the I. W. W.

1,800 MEMBERS AND $10,000 IS CLUB OBJECTIVE

Plans for Year Are Made at First Meeting of Appleton Woman's Club.

HAS AMBITIOUS PROGRAM

Every Department Is Preparing for Season of Activity and Usefulness.

A campaign for $10,000 and 1,000 members was launched Tuesday evening at the first meeting of the Appleton Woman's Club. The big drive will be staged Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 22 and 23. A thorough canvass is to be made of the six wards by teams composed of members of the club. The teams will each have a captain to direct the work.

Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, president of the club, presented a resume of the work accomplished during the summer, and a forecast of the winter program. Mrs. Kinsman said that the work of the recreational department was started in May with the employment of Miss Constance Johnson as secretary. Since that time the work has so broadened and deepened that the club authorized the engagement of a physical director to assist Miss Johnson.

Because a number of chairmen of departments and committees found it necessary to resign, the club authorized the president to appoint new chairmen. Mrs. G. M. Schumacher has been made the chairman of the civics department, Mrs. R. S. Powell, chairman of the home economics department; Mrs. J. E. Thomas, house chairman and Miss Jean Jackson, chairman of the city beautiful department.

"The club is eight months old now," Mrs. Kinsman said. "Since the formation of this organization, there has been a notable progress in the feeling of comradship among Appleton women. The asset of friends has been gained. Through the work of the club, I have come to know many women, whom I might never have known at all, or slightly."

The Appleton Woman's Club holds as its ideal, community service and a home for Appleton girls, Mrs. Kinsman said.

Miss Constance Johnson outlined the work of the recreational department for the year. In gymnastic work, the girls will be given a physical examination to determine whether they are to be in the strenuous, moderate, or corrective gym class. There will be classes in folk dancing, interpretative, gymnastic and social dancing. It is planned to have as many basketball teams as is possible. The Appleton high school gymnasium will be available for three evenings a week, it was said. Bowling teams will be organized and hiking clubs will take trips over week ends.

The music committee is planning to organize girls' glee clubs and orchestras. Fiction clubs, story telling clubs, the Woodcraft League, dramatic clubs, travel classes and noon hour clubs are all listed for the winter schedule. The club rooms will be available for meetings in the near future. The recreational department plans one big event for each month.

Eleven delegates were elected at the business meeting to attend the convention of the Federation of Woman's Clubs to be held at Superior, Sept. 28 to 30. The yare Misses D. O. Kinsman, Mrs. L. F. Marshall, Mrs. Charles Schutz, Miss Inez Gurnee, Miss Helen Schmidt, Mrs. Mabel Shannon, Miss Constance Johnson, Mrs. George Schneider, Miss Genevieve Carroll, Miss Ada Kethroe and Mrs. Gustave Keller. Mrs. S. C. Rosebush and Mrs. George Wettengel were elected as alternatives.

Mrs. Georgia Hall Quick, will appear in a recital at Memorial Chapel, Oct. 12 and Miss Jane Adams of Hull House, Chicago, will lecture at the same place in January, it was announced. The club will invite the public to hear these programs.

Excellent music was furnished by Miss Ruth Schumacher and the Appleton Woman's Trio, composed of Miss Maud Harwood, Mrs. S. F. Leuchars and Mrs. E. E. Dunn.

Mrs. Kinsman called the attention of the club to the democratic spirit of the organization. Seven churches are represented on the board of directors and she expressed hope that all the churches of the city were represented in the membership.

TOURISTS HIT NEST OF ANGRY HORNETS

An Illinois automobile party was said to have had an exciting time on one of the roads near Appleton Tuesday. The driver turned out from the highway to permit another car to pass and ran into bushes containing a hornet's nest.

They were unable to get away before the swarm was upon them and were obliged to flee from the car and wait until the angry pests had retreated. The driver could not even get close enough to shut off his engine, it was said.

BOY SCOUT WORK GETS UNDER WAY

Financial Campaign Draws Good Response—Meetings Are Planned.

The finance committee of the Appleton Boy Scout council is meeting with success in its efforts to raise $5,000 to carry on the work for the next few month. The committee met Tuesday noon for luncheon at the Sherman house and then started a "still hunt" for subscriptions. A similar meeting is to be held on Wednesday, after which the committee intends to finish its work.

The executive committee of the scout council plans to meet at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. directors' room to plan for the annual meeting, which will be held sometime before December 1. A council will be elected and plans will be mapped out for the year's activities.

E. R. Henderson, scout executive, said that quite a number of Appleton men have registered for the scoutmaster's training class, which holds its first session Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. He invites all men interested in the movement to attend the opening gathering.

MRS. WM. P. SMITH, of Los Angeles, Calif., who says Tanlac completely restored her health when no one believed she would ever be well again. Has gained thirteen pounds.

"I will never stop praising Tanlac for it has restored my health when everyone who knew of my dreadful condition had no idea I would ever get well.

"Two years ago, following an accident, I began suffering from indigestion and severe stomach trouble. I grew worse so rapidly that my health soon became perfectly wretched. My stomach became so weak I couldn't eat the simplest food or even drink a glass of milk without suffering for hours afterward. I was extremely nervous, and would have palpitation of the heart so badly at times I would almost faint. My circulation was very poor, I had no color, and weighed only eighty-one pounds. It seemed I was just gradually starving by degrees, and I had almost given up hope.

"After the best medical treatment failed to help me, travel and a change of surroundings was advised, so I traveled nearly all over the United States and had treatment every place I went, but always with the same disappointing results. How I stood my suffering is more than I can tell, and I become so despondent that life seemed hardly worth living.

"That is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac. When my husband first suggested Tanlac I told him I had no faith in it, but the next day he bought me a bottle and to my great surprise it seemed to agree with me, so I kept on taking it. The results speak for themselves.

"I have gained thirteen pounds in weight, and I feel perfectly well in every way. My appetite is splendid and I eat just anything I want and never have the slightest symptom of indigestion. I am so happy over the recovery of my health that I feel just like telling everybody about this wonderful medicine."

The above remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. William P. Smith, a well known and highly respected resident of Los Angeles, Cal., residing at 139 East Avenue 36.

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by John E. Voigt; F. O. Brown, Shiocton; Dr. J. M. Sattler, Bear Creek; H. E. Abend, Dale. adv.

17 MEETINGS ARE ARRANGED BY CLUB

Several Prominent Women Have Been Engaged for Addresses During the Winter.

Seventeen meetings have been scheduled by the Appleton Woman's Club for 1920-1921 season. The first meeting was held Tuesday evening and the next meeting September 28, with the home economics department in charge. Miss Abby Marlott will address the club at that time.

Mrs. Georgia Hall Quick will give a recital at Memorial chapel Oct. 12 under the auspices of the music department.

The meeting on Oct. 26 will be addressed by Mrs. H. Morgan, head of the bureau of child welfare and public health nursing, State Board of Health.

The club will celebrate its first anniversary Nov. 9 and two weeks later the recreation department will have charge of the program.

The meeting on January 11 will be under the direction of Mrs. L. R. Arens, who will arrange a program to be given by the advanced class of Lawrence Conservatory.

Miss Jane Addams of Hull house fame will address the club at Lawrence Memorial Chapel, Jan. 25 under the auspices of the civics department.

The Feb. 8 meeting will be devoted to business while Miss Ellen Sabin, president of Milwaukee Downer College, will address the club on "Americanization in Education," on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22.

The vice president will have charge of the meeting March 8, and on March 22 a social will be held. The public library will have charge of the meeting on April 12 and the final meeting will be held May 14.

HOLD NIGHT REVELRY ON COLLEGE AVENUE

A number of Lawrence college young men initiated the school year Tuesday evening by parading the downtown section, chain gang fashion, shirtless and hatless. They came down the street from the dormitories as far as the College avenue and Oneida street corner, and then returned. It is said that they held a hazing in the city park somewhere around midnight, amid a lot of noise and shouting, and gave some of the freshmen a ducking in the fountain.

FEWER HOGS TO BE TAKEN TO MARKET

Ten Per Cent Reduction in Number of Pigs to Be Fattened Is Reported.

Wisconsin farmers will fatten for market only 90 percent as many hogs as last year, according to Joseph A. Becker of the Wisconsin Cooperative Crop Reporting Service in his September report. The uncertain market for hogs during the past year has had much to do with this reduction. In addition, the spring hog crop was below normal. Litters averaged 5.4 pigs per sow as compared with 6.0 pigs a year ago. Mortality of young pigs was unusually heavy during the spring. It is estimated that 1,887,000 hogs will be fattened for market compared to 2,097,000 last year and 1,957,000 in 1918.

Numbers of stock hogs in United States shows a decrease of 8.9 percent, or 56,549,000, compared to 62,073,000 in 1919 and 65,066,000 in 1918.

Wool production in Wisconsin is practically the same as last year. There was an increase of 4 percent in the number of fleece or 454,000, compared to 436,000 in 1919; while the average weight of fleece was less or 7.4 pounds, compared to 7.6 pounds in 1919. Total production is 3,360,000 pounds, compared to 3,310,000 in 1919.

Wool production in the United States is estimated at 256,823,000 pounds, or 97.5 percent of the 1919 clip of 265,459,000 pounds.

APPLETON PASTOR AT PRESBYTERY MEETING

The Rev. Leo Reid Burrows is attending the fall meeting of the Presbytery of Winnebago which is being held at First Presbyterian church of Shawano.

Mr. Burrows will give a report on the building and purchasing of churches and manses in the Presbytery during the last five years. Charles S. Little will present a report as commissioner of the general assembly, held last May in Philadelphia.

Frank Engel of Fond du Lac is visiting friends in the city.

Elmer Parks and Elmer Rehmer visited friends at Little Chute Monday evening.

SIMPLER BLANKS FOR INCOME TAX

Business Men to Aid in Preparing Forms Which People Can Understand

Washington, D. C.—American business men are to aid the internal revenue department in preparing income tax blanks for 1920 and simplifying the present forms, which are such a puzzle to the average tax payer.

ADD NEW UNIT TO AUTO BODY PLANT

Year Old Firm Enjoys Rapid Growth—Makes Improvements to Plant.

The Acme Body Works, located at Calmes corners, has experienced such a rapid growth of business that another addition to its plant has become necessary, according to George Wiegand, one of the owners. This is the fourth time the plant has been expanded since its establishment about a year ago.

The company started business in a one-story frame structure 20 by 28 feet in size. Three additions giving about 8,000 square feet of additional floor space were erected. A fourth single story frame unit just being completed adds about 800 square feet to the woodworking department.

Other improvements are also under way. The paint shop is being sealed on the inside with wall board to make it absolutely dust proof. The walls were padded with shavings and tarred paper to make it possible to maintain a high temperature in the winter. The interior of the finishing room will also be sealed and both rooms will be given a coat of white paint.

A new heating plant is to be installed. All the machines have been equipped with individual motors to give greater efficiency. Other alterations are also planned to make the plant capable of increased production. Mr. Wiegand said that another addition will be required if the volume of business keeps up, but this may not be built until spring.

The company is about 200 orders behind and is working at full capacity in an effort to catch up. From 20 to 30 automobile bodies are turned out each week, depending on their nature. Ten large bus bodies are under construction now. A carload of 27 bodies was shipped last Saturday.

The company has equipped itself to build both passenger and truck bodies and does a general automobile painting business. No trouble has been experienced in getting materials. Five cars of seasoned hardwood lumber have just been received, which will supply the plant for some time. Mr. Wiegand, general manager, and G. C Seeger, shop manager, are the owners of the company.

WALKING GAZETTEER IS VISITOR IN APPLETON

"Railroad Jack," a walking gazetteer who claims to carry more names, dates and facts in his brain than any other man living, paid a brief visit to Appleton yesterday. Jack, whose real name is Harry D. Cooper, was ready to answer any historical question put to him and offered to forfeit $10 if his answers were not correct.

Jack was a former resident of Oshkosh and was a frequent visitor in Appleton a quarter of a century or more ago. He has been making his home in Detroit for the last two decades. Jack has been visiting in Oshkosh for the last month and claims to have attended a picnic or an excursion nearly every day of his stay in the Sawdust city.

Jack says he hasn't slept in a bed for 30 years. He sleeps wherever night overtakes him. He usually carries a collapsible bunk with him but he apparently is just as comfortable to curl up on the ground with the sky for a covering and the earth for a mattress.

NIGHT CLASSES TO BE NEARER HOMES

Hope for Larger Attendance by Holding Classes in Grade School Buildings.

Night classes of Appleton Vocational school will be taken nearer to the homes of the students this year thru an arrangement to conduct the classes in grade school buildings. Final plans for the innovation are being made by W. S. Ford, vocational school director.

Mr. Ford believes that the attendance will be largely increased because pupils will not be obliged to go so far from home after a hard day's work to attend the classes. Extensive advertising will be resorted to to interest Appleton people in the courses of study to be offered. Registration is to begin October 4 and will continue until October 8.

The vocational school began its year last Tuesday with an enrollment ten per cent larger than a year ago. A total of 350 pupils—200 girls and 120 boys—are now registered. Because of the larger per centage of eighth grade graduates Mr. Ford believes the school will excell all former scholastic achievements.

Special emphasis will be placed on the study of commercial subjects this year. Lack of equipment prevents a thorough course in those subjects but the students will be given a careful grounding in business arithmetic, commercial geography, salesmanship and penmanship. Courses in industrial arts and household management will also be offered the first semester.

Regular athletic work will be a feature of the school's activities. Teams will be organized for baseball, basketball and other sports and its is planned to make use of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium for games and practice. All boys will be obliged to submit to physicial examinations before they are permitted to take part in the more strenuous games.

Miss Mabel Burke again heads the girl's domestic science department, with Miss Christine Door teaching cooking and nursing. Mrs. Katherine Durick will instruct the milinery classes: Miss Ida Wunderlick will teach sewing: Mrs. John Morgan and Mrs. M. S. Peerenboom will head the boys' and girls' academic department. In the boys department, James Chadek will teach manual training: W. R. Challoner will instruct in machine shop practice: C. B. Spicher is the head of printing work, and F. F. Martin will teach science and mathematics.

SHORTAGE OF CASTINGS DELAYS TRACTOR OUTPUT

The superstructure for the addition to the Fox River Tractor company plant is nearly completed and workmen will start laying the concrete floor in a few days. The company hopes to occupy the new unit shortly after October 1.

Some difficulty has been experienced in assembling the first group of Fox tractors under construction due to the delay in getting some of the castings. The company has contracted with outside firms for some of the parts and has had to suffer because of the heavy demand on the foundries.

The first machine has proven satisfactory in all its tests and is to be sold to a farmer near Appleton. It has the advantage of lighter weight than the average machine on the market, yet gives the same power as the heavier machines. It is said to be more adaptable to general farm uses, and is expected to command a heavy sale on this account.

OVER 1,000 CROSS RAILROAD TRACKS

Rail Employes Make Count of Number of Persons Crossing Right of Way.

One thousand and eighty-six pedestrians crossed the Northwestern tracks at Bates street crossing immediately east of the freight depot between the hours of 6 a. m. and 1 p. m. Tuesday. One hundred and fifty-seven automobiles, 119 bicycles and 51 teams crossed during the same hours.

The record was prepared by Herman Teske, care taker at the Northwestern depot, who has been ordered by his employers to take a three days' traffic census at that point. The census is to be taken during the entire twenty-four hours of each day. Mr. Teske is being assisted by Ted Thomas who has been assigned to the night shift.

Two hundred and ten pedestrians crossed the track between 6 and 7 o'clock: 180 between 7 and 8 o'clock: 170 between 8 and 9 o'clock: 52 between 9 and 10 o'clock: 52 between 10 and 11 o'clock: 115 between 11 and 12 o'clock; and 265 between 12 and 1 o'clock.

Eleven automobiles crossed the track during the first hour, 19 the second, 35 the third, 25 the fourth, 20 the fifth, 20 the sixth and 27 the seventh. The number of bicycles varied from 2 between 9 and 10 o'clock to 55 between 12 and 1 o'clock. The busy hour for teams was between 10 and 11 o'clock during which time 12 crossed.

LABORING PEOPLE ARE REMODELING HOMES

Many workmen seem to be taking advantage of the high wages to remodel their homes. Most of the cement blocks sold by the Gochnauer Cement Products company are to people who are placing cellars beneath old houses. It appears that this is the first time the laboring men have had the funds to make these improvements, judging from the exceptional demand.

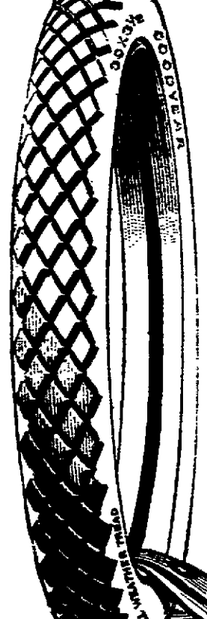

The Gochnauer company has the new addition to the west of its plant enclosed and a concrete floor is being built. More block making machinery is to be added to increase the output of the plant as soon as the new unit is finished.

There is still difficulty in securing sand by rail, but the company has managed to keep operating by hauling from the country districts by team.

There Is Great Satisfaction In Selecting Your New Outfit Now

For Autumn—A New Suit

Crisp cool days that urge one to be out are even more delightful when you are conscious of the newness, smartness and beauty of a new Suit.

Lines generally speaking are youthfully straight and slim with now and then a jaunty rippled jacket. In defiance of frosts and cold weather are enormous and becoming collars of fur.

Finding a suit this season that is smart, attractive and practical for many purposes is indeed simple when one sees the numbers of individual models now being displayed.

The cloths are most attractive and easily adapted to the present styles. Duvetyn, veldine, chamoistyne, peach bloom, duvet de laine and various color combinations in velour checks. Beautiful tailored models are shown in tricotine.

The colors are the various shades of browns—Zanzibar, dryad, beaver; blues of many tones—Chippendale, Cobalt, Nanking, Chinese and Navy: and other soft shades of Taupe an dSiberian Squirrel.

Prices range from $55.00, $65.00, $75.00 to $300.00.

AUTUMN HATS of Exceeding Charm

Softly draped lines mark many of the new fabric hats. Duvetyn and velvet fall naturally into graceful turbans, tams and off-the-face modes, and when ornamented with coque, ostrich, embroidery, ribbons and jeweled pins are indeed lovely.

Many are of dark brown and black velvet and there are others of rich sapphire or darker blue, golden brown or rust, jade green and Chinese blue.

New arrivals every day depicting the latest creations of the millinery fashion artists.

Prices from $6.50 to $35.00 and up.

THE RESULT IN MAINE

Great significance will be attached to the Maine election by the Republicans, while the Democrats will go to lengths to prove that it means little or nothing. Maine has long been regarded as a barometer of national politics, but it is evident that sentiment in that state has no relation to sentiment elsewhere that is peculiar to Maine itself. Any other state north of the Mason and Dixon line would be as good a barometer.

The sweeping victory for the Republican candidate for governor is, we think, a prophecy of what to expect in November. There can be little doubt that it reflects general disappointment in Democratic administration and desire for a change. But this is nothing new. Widespread dissatisfaction with the Democratic party has been so open and pronounced for the last two years that it could not possibly be mistaken. It has indicated all along a return of the Republicans to power, regardless of any position the party might take on the issues of the campaign, regardless of any weaknesses in candidate or platform, regardless of any mistakes or blunders it might make that were within reason.

For the last six years Maine has given small pluralities for both president and governor. It has broken precedent by electing Democratic governors and by giving its electoral vote to Wilson in 1912, when the Progressive third ticket split the Republicans. It was carried by Hughes in 1916, although by only about a third the majority polled by the Republican candidate for governor in September. In 1884 and again in 1892, when Cleveland was elected, Maine was heavily Republican as majorities went in those days.

The contention that the Maine result this year is a rejection of the league of nations is not, we believe justified. Had Mr. Harding been the framer of the league and its advocate the Republican party would have polled as large if not a larger majority in the election Tuesday. The Maine vote expresses no judgment upon the league of nations or upon the issue of peace. This is true even though it be admitted an attempt was made to confine the contest to this issue. Politicians may create issues but they cannot hold the people to them. In the Wisconsin primray just held there was a personal liberty candidate for senator running on a wet platform. His candidacy theoretically should have appealed to twice as many voters, but as a matter of fact deep seated feelings over LaFollettism controlled the primary.

There cannot possibly be, and there will not be in this presidential election, an intelligent, sound disposition of the great questions of peace and the league of nations at the polls. These issues will not influence the election, as things now stand and as they have stood for many months past. The league of nations and peace in politics are hopelessly involved. The prejudices or convictions in this campaign run back farther and down deeper than the war and peace. They are that current of political opinion which in all ordinary elections decides the result on general principles. Intense partisanship has been aroused by the campaign managers this year, particularly by the Republicans. On top of this was the noticeable trend of sentiment toward a return to Republican administration on the ground that it would give the country greater prosperity and economic stability.

Mr. Harding has contributed no additions to Republican prospects, either through his personality or his speeches. He has weakened them if anything. Republican success, probably sweeping success, is indicated in November in spite of him or anything he stands for. The league of nations is not a factor and never has been. It was a national misfortune to drag it into politics and this election, for however the election goes the result will not constitute a true expression of the people toward it.

OUTSIDE OR INSIDE

There is a league of nations. There is no occasion for the United States or any other nation to question the existence of an established fact.

Three-fourths of the world is now in the league of nations. One billion two hundred million of the world's population today have subscribed to the doctrine that a league of nations is necessary to make future wars impossible. Less than half a billion people are outside the league of nations. Forty-one countries now are members, eleven other countries have asked for membership and probably will be admitted.

There are fourteen nations outside, the chief of which is the United States. Russia, too, is outside. The bolsheviki will not join because the league of nations does not permit the Reds to overturn other governments. Germany, Austria, Hungary, Turkey, Bulgaria, are on the outside. They were the enemy nations in the war. They must clean their hands of their war atrocities and pay their rightful war debts before they may join the league of nations.

The United States is lined up—outside the league of nations—with her former enemies, with Red Russia, with Abyssinia, San Domingo, and revolutionary Mexico. On the inside are France, Italy, Great Britain, Canada, Autralia, China, Japan, all of South America excepting Ecuador and practically all of Africa.

It is a significant division. The purpose of all nations embraced in the league of nations is to secure peace. Is it likely that when upwards of forty nations band themselves together to secure peace the effect of the association will be to produce war?

Viewed in the light of its history, its traditions, its institutions, its part in the World war, does the United States logically belong with the great group of nations joined together to preserve peace and prevent war, or does it belong with the little group whose policies past and present are provocative of war and whose present status is such that they could not be trusted with any of the responsibilities touching the good understanding, order and civilized progress of the world?

CARELESSNESS

Observe the next ten persons you happen to meet. One of them, during the next year, will fall downstairs, get run over, trip into an open manhole, lean too far out of a window, peer into a gun that is supposed to be unloaded, drown or something of the sort. That person will be among the 11,037,000 who are injured in accidents in this country every year. Of these, 75,000 will die as a result.

It requires no wisdom to produce these statistics. All it needs is an actuary and an adding machine. For centuries the world has been struggling to eliminate plagues and diseases that sweep away whole segments of the race. But no sooner is one unnecessary cause of death removed than another is quickly invented. The safer science makes life for the individual the more irresponsible the individual seems to grow.

Today's immense accident figures in America reflect the personal carelessness of the American. The disease rate also reflects it. Life keeps speeding up around us and while we are very much impressed, for instance, with the fact that 31,000 Americans were killed in the late war, we do not stop to think that 126,000 died of accidents in the same period.

Deaths from automobile accidents alone number 15,000 annually. It used to be trains that killed people on this scale. The day will come when society and law will intervene to stop useless manslaughter from reckless motor driving, but when that is done presumably some other equally effective destroyer of life will take the automobile's place as the price of abused American liberty.

In the early part of the nineteenth century Boston used to celebrate Artillery Day a week after a new governor was elected.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

ON BEING THREATENED

When a doctor examines a patient and then announces that the patient is "threatened with pneumonia," the doctor is marking time, passing the buck, treading water, waiting to see what is going to turn up. He is not deceiving the family, understand. He is merely playing it safe—for the patient and for himself. Naturally he orders the patient to remain in bed, and that is certainly best for the patient.

The reason why it is always best for one with an acute illness accompanied with fever or feverishness to remain in bed is simply because Rest helps to resist or overcome inflammation, exactly as Rest of a broken arm helps in the repair of the bone. To needlessly work lungs, heart or any other organ when one is ill with even a mild infection like sore throat or coryza or any respiratory infection, is flinging defiance to nature and inviting trouble.

Another very good reason why one developing any kind of respiratory infection, anything accompanied with cough, sore throat or nasal discharge, should remain in bed is because these acute illnesses are all exceedingly infectious at the stage of onset—more likely to spread like wildfire at this stage than after the illness is well established. When the patient is in bed he is therefore availing himself of the BEST CHANCE and he is at the same time NOT DISTRIBUTING SAMPLES of his infection among his associates and people with whom he might come in contact if he were trying to keep about and "fight it off" as the saying goes. Those who approach him of their own accord do so at their own peril. With proper precautions there is no danger in casual association with one who has or is developing pneumonia, tonsillitis, diphtheria, influenza, cerebro-spinal meningitis, common coryza (so-called head "cold"), measles, scarlet fever, tuberculosis or any other respiratory infection. Let us recall what those procautions are.

1. Keep outside the patient's five-foot barrage. In talking or laughing the patient throws out an invisible spray of droplets of moisture which may contain the germs of the disease, and this spray ordinarily does not carry more than five feet. If the patient sneezes or coughs without covering nose and mouth with handkerchief or hand or mask, then the barrage may extend to ten or more feet and it is unsafe to be in the same room with him. Any one up and about who perpetrates an open-face cough or sneeze ought to be then and there punished for his ignorance and viciousness.

2. Never touch the patient or any intimate personal object he uses, without immediately afterward washing your hands.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Reply to Mrs. A. C.

If you are over thirty-five years of age you owe it to yourself if not to your family, to be examined at once by your physician for cancer. Of course I do not know whether you have cancer, but your description suggests cancer.

Syphilis Treatment

Is syphilis curable? (X. Y.)

ANSWER—Most cases of syphilis are arrested by treatment continued for at least two years. If you cannot afford treatment by your physician in private, apply to the city health department for free treatment.

Whooping Cough

Could you tell me whether ————'s Plaster cures the whooping cough? I was advised to use moth balls and camphor crushed and sewn in a little bag and hung on the neck. Would this do any good? (Mrs. R. A. K.)

ANSWER—The plaster will not cure the disease. The moth balls and camphor, or asafetida, or any other noisome stuff will have no effect on the disease. If you will send a stamped envelope addressed to yourself I will mail you a special letter of advice about the management of whooping-cough. Meanwhile I advise that the patient, and any persons presumed to have come in contact with the patient since the first sign of cough many days before whooping is heard be given whooping-cough bacterin by the family doctor.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Sept. 18, 1895

E. S. Baer visited friends in Menasha the day previous.

Will VanNortwick entered Princeton college, New Jersey.

H. W. Tenney returned from Chicago, where he had been visiting relatives.

Frank Holbrook left for the Northwestern Military Academy at Highland Park, Ill.

The morning session of probate court the day previous was adjourned on account of the funeral of Gerhard Kamps.

Edward O'Keefe left for Batavia, Ill., where O'Keefe & Orbison were rebuilding the Western Paper Bag company's mill.

The leaves had commenced to get ripe and drop from the trees. There had been no frost.

The advocates of low license, $200, won out in the special election the day previous by a majority of 635 votes.

A mass meeting of women in the interests of Sunday closing of saloons was held at the Congregational church.

The manufacturing district of the south side at Oshkosh was threatened by a serious fire that started in the sash, door and blind factory of the Morgan Manufacturing company and spread to Stretch & Sons' wagon works.

At a meeting of the Milwaukee coal dealers it was decided to increase the price of coal from $4.75 to $5.50 per ton.

The Whiting Paper company was making extensive improvements to its mill at Menasha.

SMILE AWHILE

Ten places selling fancy food grace my immediate neighborhood and after five o'clock come richly-colored dames by scores invading these expensive stores to decimate the stock.

They purchase jars of pickled beets, stuffed eggs and other piffling eats, salads or jellied eels, and then they hasten to their homes, to be there are friend husband comes, to get their evening meals.

These wives have been upon the go to jazzy dance or movie show or on the avenue, they have no time to cook at all, but wonder when their spouses bawl at this array of goo.

They marvel much to hear them say "When I have labored hard all day, I'd give my good right eye and all the dough that I can make for one old-fashioned chunk of steak, or slab of home-made pie."

They wonder when a husband slams the door and hastens down to Sam's to meet the other boys who finds the plain things fed them there from a substantial bill-of-fare are gastronomic joys.

Oh, woman, in your hours of ease why cultivate rotisseries and stores of foreign ilk. Revert again to pot and pan and you will find that with your man all will go smooth as silk!

The Decline of Oratory

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—Despite the facts that one of our esteemed presidential candidates has been swinging round the circle with his mouth open and a continuous stream of invective and eloquence issuing therefrom; that the other has been standing on his front porch in the same attitude and engaged in the same occupation; that the woods are full of stump speakers; that you can get a man in any town of a thousand or more inhabitants to speak on any subject whatsoever at any desired length; that when the United States went to war it put through a draft law to get men to fight but produced an army of volunteer orators by the mere raising of a governmental finger; that there will be eleven thousand two hundred fifty-six banquets given in the United States this year; and that from three to seven orations will be delivered at each without the aid of any other stimulant than such as the speaker can bring inside his person; and that these orations will have to be listened to without the aid of any anesthetic stronger than tobacco——

Despite these and many other facts of a similar nature which might be cited, it may be stated with conservative accuracy that the great art of oratory, which traditionally makes men laugh and cry, decides the destinies of nations and sells life insurance and real estate, is in for a decline.

What, you naturally inquire, is the evidence of this decline? It is hard to get a cook or laundress or a man to mow the lawn. The crops rot for lack of men to harvest them. But it is still easy to get a man to speak and it is still hard to get him to stop speaking.

Orators in the Making

Furthermore, the magazines are full of the advertisements of correspondence schools that guarantee to make you a forceful and eloquent speaker in seven lessons, and young lawyers all over the country are roaching their hair and practicing Daniel Webster gestures before the looking glass as of yore. Certainly the supply of oratory is not being cut off at its source.

But the main taps of eloquence still flow. The Congressional Record waxes flatter and more flowery every year. The speakerless banquet is still a millenial dream. Each school and college commencement is as ever the occasion for a great deal of amateur and professional platitudinizing. No question—municipal, state, or national—in the United States can yet be settled without the water pitcher and the windbag.

And yet, as intimated above, there is reason to believe that oratory is on the wane.

The evidence of this decline is not to be found among the orators, they are as numerous, as willing, as mellifluous as ever. The indications of change are to be seen in the audience. The American people are slightly but unmistakably less receptive to gesture and peroration, to the pathos of the lowered voice and the sweeping power of the booming period, than they used to be.

Impudent Scribes

Our late lamented national conventions are an example. There was just as much spell-binding as ever, and it was greeted, at the time, with just as much applause. But the applause at a political convention is as sure as the coming of spring. It is a highly organized performance, pulled off according to schedule. The attitude of the general public as reflected in the newspapers must be taken into account. In cartoon and editorial and even in the news columns, much of this oratory was referred to in a manner not wholly respectful and greatly to be deplored. It was even in some instances labelled bunk.

And consider the character of the men who were sent to write up these conventions. They used to be reported with the utmost dignity by men who themselves had an aptitude for the rolling phrase, and who perceived that politics is one of the most serious concerns of life. But when newspapers of high standing send to the great national conventions such irresponsible jesters as Heywood Broun and H. L. Mencken and Abe Martin and Ring W. Lardner, and allow these impertinent fellows to gibe and titter as they will, there is evidence of a change in the public attitude toward political oratory to which the great dailies are slavishly catering.

Many minor evidences of this same change in public sentiment might be cited. Orations do not draw the crowds that once they drew, nor the tears, nor yet the cheers. There is a growing tendancy for audiences to show signs of prevailing unrest when the orator draws a fresh breath, and says: "Now ladies and gentlemen, I have one more point to offer for your consideration."

This piece is a lament, as it should be. America's greatest and most indisputably indigenous art is threatened. We do not produce as good writers as other civilized countries, nor as good painters. In scientific discovery the other nations outrank us. Their diplomats politely take away from ours whatever they may have that they want. But in oratory, what great nation can compare with America? Where can you discover the counterparts of William Jennings Bryan and Billy Sunday? And what our orators may lack in quality they make up in numbers. It is a fact of statistical standing that no other countries on earth produce more orators per thousand of population except Mexico and Liberia.

Not Altogether Sad

And yet it may be that this faintly threatened decline of a great national art and pastime is not without its compensations. Psychologists tell us that as a method of considering important questions, public speaking to large crowds has a fundamental weakness. This weakness is that the orator has an overwhelming tendency to say, not what he thinks, but what the crowd wants to hear. In the solitude of his study he may be a sincere and intelligent man, but when he gets on the platform he is possessed by a single desire to "get a hand." He will say anything to that end and purpose. His thinking all goes for naught. And, as a corrollary of this proposition, the man who does not think often makes a better orator than the one who does. If a man really has anything to impart he can write it a great deal better than he can say it.

It is true that the world has produced great orators, from Moses and Cicero on down. But if you will examine into the orating of these gifted ancients, you will learn that they spoke, not to great mobs of people, but to small, select and critical audiences of their peers. Thus Cicero's careful and precisely logical discourses were delivered before the Roman Senate—a small and highly sophisticated body. It is the audience that makes the oration. And when the audience is a great gathering of men, most of whom feel but do not think, and who are welded into a mob, the oration becomes a mere telling of funny stories, a making of resonant noises, a shouting of tribunal shibboleths. A typical American political speech is a lineal descendant of the war whoop and a blood brother of the college yell. It has no more affinities with logic and common sense than a popular song. For proof of this, listen to a few of them.

Nor have the really great and constructive Americans ever been orators. Our great orators without exceptions have talked themselves into oblivion without achieving any position of high and lasting power. Witness Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, Roscoe Conkling. They all wanted to be President and talked themselves out of the job. George Washington was no orator. When he had to make a speech he wrote it out carefully and briefly and often he had someone else write it for him, showing that he assessed speech-making at its true value. Lincoln was not really a great speaker either. When he campaigned for the Presidency many of his speeches made a poor impression. All of his so-called great speeches are brief and highly finished literary productions—the product of solitude. The Gettysburg address is only a few hundred words in length, was written and revised many times, and when delivered before a crowd, produced no effect whatever. Long afterward, when discriminating people read it over, it was discovered to be a classic.

THE QUESTION BOX

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. In the states where women are of age at eighteen, will they be allowed to vote at that age? A. A.

A. Twenty-one years is the voting age for both sexes.

Q. How can steel tools be marked? S. S. V.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that steel tools may be marked satisfactorily by warming the metal so that a thin coating of wax can be applied. Scratch through the wax with a sharp pointed tool to give the letters or figures desired, then apply to the marking on the wax nitric acid of about 1.20 specific gravity. This can be done by moistening a strip of blotting paper in the acid and laying it over the marks to be etched.

Q. Are Ecclesiasticus and Ecclesiastes one and the same book of the Bible? E. E. D.

A. These books are not the same. Ecclesiasticus or The Wisdom of Jesus the Son of Sirach, is one of the books of the Apocrypha.

Q. What is the most used letter in the English language? R. I.

A. In Edgar Allen Poe's "The Gold Bug," he states that of the letters of the English alphabet "e" predominates remarkably. The succession afterwards is—a-o-i-d-h-n-r-s-t-u-y-c-f-g-l-m-w-b-k-p-q-x-z.

Q. Where can I send samples of soil to be analyzed free? R. E. R.

A. Samples of soil are analyzed free of charge by the state agricultural experiment stations.

Q. In a poker game, can a player demand that the cards be cut when hands are being helped on the draw? W. C. S.

A. There is no specific rule stated in Hoyle. The rules state that in the deal "player to dealer's right cuts. If he refuses, no other player may demand the right to cut." Further on the statement is made that in serving cards on the draw, "The dealer must serve the cards called for in turn to the left from the top of the pack. The conclusion reached is that the cards may not be cut except the one time, and by the one person to the right of dealer.

Q. Did President Roosevelt have the motto, "In God We Trust" removed from coins? R. S. R.

A. When designs for gold coins were being submitted during President Roosevelt's administration, that of the artist St. Gaudens was accepted even though it did not carry the motto, "In God We Trust." Later, Congress authorized a modification of the design in order that the motto might be restored.

Q. Is there a law prohibiting the burial of Chinese in the United States? E. S.

A. There is no law of the United States prohibiting the burial of Chinese upon American soil. The Chinese, however, prefer to be buried in their native country and whenever possible make such arrangements.

Butter and Eggs via Motor Express

IN addition to over a million farmer-owned automobiles, 18,000 farmer-owned trucks, and approximately 100,000 farm tractors, there are 519 motorized Express Companies doing business in the states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and this number is growing day by day.

Automotive Industries for 1920 declares "Trucks are operating on railroad schedules, and have proved more dependable, on a time basis, than the steam roads have ever been. Their use to replace the freight car for certain classes of freight has proved a marked success."

The Smithsonian Institute, United States National Museum Bulletin 102, says, "In respect to prompt delivery of farm produce, whether to railways or directly to towns, the motor truck has an exceptionally useful opportunity."

It fit these motor trucks, tractors and farmer-owned automobiles that are largely increasing gasoline consumption, particularly in the Middle West.

During the first four months of 1920, the production of gasoline increased 13½%, while during the same period, domestic consumption of gasoline increased 33⅓%. This excess of consumption over production has been a potent factor in the advance of gasoline prices, but the dominant underlying reason has been the increase in the cost of crude oil.

The service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) lies in manufacturing and distributing to the tractor, the truck, and the automobile a dependable supply of gasoline and lubricating oils, and selling them at a fair price. The latest refinery methods are producing a continually increasing percentage of gasoline from each barrel of crude oil. While large-scale production and distribution assure maximum economy in this industry, the savings effected by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are utilized to hold down gasoline prices despite the rising tide of demand for petroleum products.

Visits Famous Cow

Henry C. Cook of Illinois, was here Tuesday to inspect the noted Holstein cow, Sadie Gerben Hengerveld DeKol owned by the Wisconsin Live Stock Association of Appleton. This animal won first prize in the national butter tests in competition with 4,125 cows from 15 states and Canada.

Goes Bankrupt

Several Appleton merchants have been listed as creditors of Fred Bauer, former Chilton resident, now of Milwaukee, who has filed a petition in bankruptcy. The case has been referred to Charles Forward, Oshkosh, referee in bankruptcy who called a meeting of creditors for Sept. 25. The petition lists debts aggregating $5,057.44 and assets of $2,560 of which $2,450 is claimed as exempt.

Moves to City

Herman J. Kamps, county clerk, who has been occupying a cottage at the lake all summer, has leased one of the Morneau flats at 583 Prospect street and expects to move in from the lake Thursday.

Joins Marines

William Halsey, a former resident of Appleton, who recently re-enlisted in the Marine Corps at the Marine corps recruiting office at Oshkosh, has been re-appointed to his former rank of quartermaster sergeant and ordered transferred to Marine Barracks, Charlestown, for further transfer to the 15th. Regiment, U. S. Marine Corps at Santo Domingo. Quartermaster Sergeant Halsey has seen former service in the Marines having had 10 years prior service in the corps.

Collides With Motorcycle

The National Laundry truck driven by Frank Treml collided with a motorcycle at the corner of Lawrence and Oneida streets about six o'clock Tuesday evening. The name of the motorcycle rider was not obtained, but his machine was reported to be badly damaged. Neither driver was injured.

Change Meeting Dates

The rural affairs committee of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce has changed its meeting date to the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. This action was taken by Joseph Plank, chairman, because the directors voted to meet on the first and third Tuesday evenings. The publicity and convention committee will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday at four o'clock.

Road Bulletin

Copies of Bulletin No. 11, Highway Maintenance, devoted especially to patrol maintenance on the state trunk highway system were mailed to all the county patrolmen today from the county highway commissioner's office. The bulletin is compiled by J. T. Donaghey, maintenance engineer at Madison and contains much valuable information.

Meet in Kimberly

A meeting of pulp, sulphite and paper mill workers will be held at Kimberly Thursday evening. The speakers will be the Rev. F. X. VanNistleroy of Kimberly and A. R. McDonald of Kaukauna.

Taken Ill on Street

The city ambulance was called to the corner of Richmond and Atlantic streets Tuesday afternoon to convey Mrs. William Kornke to her home. She became ill with heart failure.

THE BOOK OF ANN

Our Agreement to Be Pals Doesn't Work Out Happily for Me.

"True? What can't be true, Mrs. Best?" asked Bob. He was sparring for time, I felt sure, for we had planned never to let Mrs. Best know about the attempted theft of the rings. Of course, Bob wanted to find out what Mrs. Best had discovered before he gave her any details of her husband's escapade.

"Katherine Miller hinted at an unbelieveable story about Mr. Best. She sent me to Ann. She said my daughter needs me immediately!"

"Of course she did!" My words had one meaning for Mrs. Best and something different for my husband. I could see that he caught what I implied: a woman could see right through Katherine Miller even if her beauty did blind a man—and a very clever man, too!

"Of course she told you Mrs. Best," I continued. Please sit down. Don't worry. It's all over now. And all right, too!"

"Mr. Best is at liber—I mean he has started on his trip," said Bob. And Ann is all right. She is with her husband, you know!"

In bitterness of spirit, I envied Ann who had a husband who delighted in petting and comforting her. I yearned to have Bob shield me from my large assortment of sorrows. I wanted him to make a direct effort to console me when I needed it most. And that was, obviously, when I was jealous. No woman ever suffers more than when she doubts or distrusts her man.

And it is always at such times that Bob is hardest. His attitude seems to embody the particular disadvantage of being loved in the new way, the modern way of marriage as a business partnership on a 50-50 basis.

Bob and I had agreed in the beginning of our engaged days that we would be pals. But in practice, I didn't find that the plan worked out happily for the woman. I wanted to depend when I felt badly. I wanted to be a baby like Ann. I wanted to be kissed and forgiven, no matter who was in the wrong. And I never wanted all this tenderness more than I did that night.

But Bob clung to our pre-nuptial stipulation as he had done a hundred times before. I could think what I pleased—do what I wished—and he would hold me responsible, just as he would hold a business partner responsible. And he would let me suffer, too, without a word of understanding or sympathy!

I almost hated Ann because she had a husband who would pet her in the good old-fashioned way.

"Yes, Ann is all right, now that Jim is here. I think I won't bother them tonight. I don't want to make Ann feel badly about her father, you see."

"Put the incident out of your mind, Mrs. Best," advised Bob.

"I can—if the Lorimers can," sighed Mrs. Best. "But I'm afraid that—that Mrs. Grundy will not let them!"

"If by Mrs. Grundy you mean Katherine Miller, I agree!" I said.

This remark brought Bob to his feet with a start.

"It's nearly two o'clock, and the dance music still goes on," he said. "I think I'll run over to the green for a few minutes."

"Go with him, my dear," suggested Mrs. Best. "I'll go home— and up to my room. I can't face any of the people—over there—again tonight." She waved a hand toward the lawn.

"I'm so sorry we couldn't have spared you all this, Mrs. Best," I said. "We tried, you know."

"My dear, when you're as old as I am, you'll stop trying 'to spare' folks from any kind of trouble. It simply can't be done!"

Bob and I walked in silence to the green where the young people were still dancing. Said myself to myself:

"No, you simply can't save anybody from anything! But if Mr. Best had behaved himself, we would have been spared half the trouble. And if Bob wouldn't behave like a bachelor, part of the time, I wouldn't have a trouble in the world!"

Sister Mary's Kitchen

When the glass stopper of the vinegar or oil cruet sticks, don't hit it. The most careful tapping has been known to crack the neck of the bottle.

Pour water over the outside of the cruet, gradually increasing the temperature. The heat causes an almost infinitesimal amount of expansion of the glass holding the stopper but enough to allow its easy removal.

This will not break even cut glass. The slowly increasing heat tempers the glass, so there is no sudden change of temperature.

Menu for Tomorrow

BREAKFAST — Fresh pears, creamed dried beef, baking powder biscuits, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Tomatoes stuffed and baked, bread and butter, pear conserve, tea.

DINNER—Salisbury steak, French fried potatoes, cauliflower in cream sauce, apple celery and nut salad, maple mousse, coffee.

My Own Recipes

If the steak is carefully prepared and attractively served, the dinner will be worthy a "dressy" dessert such as maple mousse. The idea that foods must be in keeping with each other is not to be sneered at. Corned beef and cabbage would not be compatible with ice cream. But in this day of lost values, round steak sometimes has to be served to guests and the dessert relied upon to make a company dinner.

TOMATOES STUFFED AND BAKED

- 4 large tomatoes
- 2 ears of corn
- 1 egg
- 1-2 cup dried bread crumbs
- 1-2 cup chopped cooked ham
- Pepper

Cut the top from tomatoes. Scoop out inside pulp. Drain and use the tomato juice to moisten stuffing, discarding seeds. Cut tops from kernels of corn and scrape out the milk. Mix corn, tomato juice, bread crumbs and ham. Add well-beaten yolk of egg. Season with pepper only if the ham is salty. Fold in white of egg beaten stiff and dry. Fill tomatoes with mixture. Put a bit of butter on each tomato and bake in ramekins.

PEAR CONSERVE

- 4 pounds pears
- 3 pounds sugar
- 1 pound raisins
- 2 lemons
- 3 oranges
- 1 cup English walnuts

Peel and core pears. Cut in small pieces. Peel oranges and lemons and chop the peel. Cut the fruit into small pieces the same size as the pears. Put ingredients into a preserving kettle and boil till thick and the pears are transparent. Pour into glasses and seal when cold.

The Stage

Show is Pleasing

"The Girl in the Limousine," which plays at Appleton theatre Thursday evening, was well received in Fond du Lac where it played Monday night. It was said that the production is good and the play is filled with laughs. The costuming of the actors caused much favorable comment.

WOMAN'S CLUB YEAR BOOK IS DISTRIBUTED

The year book of the Appleton Women's Club is off the press and was ready for distribution at the meeting of the club Tuesday evening. The book contains a complete schedule of meetings for the year and a list of officers, chairmen, directors, standing committees and members is given.

Space is allowed each department for officers names, purpose of the department and program for the year.

The book also contains the constitution and by-laws of the organization.

APPLETON IS AGAIN FREE FROM SMALLPOX

The city is again free from smallpox, the quarantine of the last case reported having been lifted. There are still three cases of scarlet fever and two cases of diphtheria. No contagious diseases have been reported to the health department since Wednesday, Sept. 8. The family quarantined for having exposed itself to scarlet fever at a Randall street residence is submitting gracefully to the regulations of the health department and the quarantine will be raised next Saturday providing no cases develop.

LECTURE SERIES FOR NEW VOTERS

Dr. D. O. Kinsman to Give a Number of Talks on Civics and Politics.

So that Appleton women may learn to vote intelligently and to give them a better knowledge of the platforms of the principal political parties, the civics department of Appleton Woman's Club has arranged for a series of lectures by Dr. D. O. Kinsman, member of Lawrence college faculty, who is also director of the department.

The first of these lectures will be delivered at four o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, October 6.

Following are the dates and subjects of Dr. Kinsman's addresses:

October 6—The Political Platforms and the Presidential Candidates.

October 20—The Duties and Rights of Citizenship.

November 3—The Qualifications and Duties of Voters.

November 17—The Government of the City.

December 1—The Government of the City (continued.)

December 15—The Organization and Work of the State Legislature.

January 12—The State Executive and Administrative Departments.

January 26—The State Courts and their Functions.

February 9—Our System of Schools and Compulsory Education.

February 23—The Congress of the United States.

March 9—The President and His Cabinet.

March 23—The federal courts.

April 16—The Methods of Raising Revenue and Paying Bills.

April 20—The League of Nations.

The Civics Department aims, through these lessons in citizenship, to prepare its members for their new duties as voters and feels that in this one department alone it is offering many times the worth of the dollar membership fee.

It hopes through its legislative committee to follow city, state, and national legislation, and to keep the department and the club informed of what women, as voters, ought to know and to do, concerning legislation.

Since the work of the city beautiful department is largely of a civic nature, that department has been made a standing committee of the civics department, with the same aims and purposes that it had at its inception. Its officers are: Mrs. G. M. Schumaker, chairman; Mrs. L. C. Sleeper, vice chairman; Mrs. A. C. Remley, secretary; Miss Jean Jackson, chairman City Beautiful Committee; Mrs. S. C. Rosebush, chairman Legislative Committee; Mrs. J. L. Sensenbrenner, chairman Movie Committee.

This department will meet on the first and third Wednesday of each month, in the Vocational school auditorium.

FORESTERS RE-ELECT FORMER OFFICERS

All but one of the old officers were reelected at the annual meeting of the Catholic Order of Foresters in Forester home on Washington street Tuesday evening. J. B. Langenberg was reelected chief ranger and Oscar Nitschke will continue as vice chief ranger. Other officers are George Merkel, recording secretary; John C. Ryan, financial secretary; Karl Keller, treasurer; August Merkel, trustee for three years; Walter E. Stilp, speaker.

Mr. Langenberg was elected delegate to the state convention of Foresters and John Morgan was chosen as alternate. The officers will be installed about October 1.

A smoker felled the business meeting.

PRIZES AWARDED TO POSTER CONTEST WINNERS

Prizes for the best words in the poster contest conducted by the Appleton Woman's club were awarded to Miss Miriam Peabody for the seventh grade pupils, Miss Agnes Dorn for eighth grade students and Miss Margery Neller, a sophomore, in the high school. Honorable mention was made of posters submitted by Violet Johnson of Washington school, Pauline Keller of the Lincoln school, Emil Wurm of the Franklin school, Irene Hannes of St. Joseph school and Lois Gillet of the Fourth ward school.

The posters represent some phase or activity of the club. Approximately 200 posters were submitted.

The judges were Mrs. Joseph Koffend, Jr., Mrs. Mark Catlin and H. L. Post. The prize winning posters are displayed in the windows of the Schlafer Hardware company store.

EVERY FLOWER HAS STORY OF ITS OWN

THE ROSE

The rose is the queen of love and beauty. It is the most eloquent of all in the language of flowers. The red rose is a token of love and the white of purity. A moss rosebud is a confession of love while a rosebud says "You may hope." A white rose says, "I am worthy of you," and the yellow rose asks "Are you jealous?"

A Roman custom was to paint a rose on the ceiling of the banquet hall, signifying that what was told at the feast was not to be repeated. The expression, sub rosa, originated from this custom.

Rose and Nightingale

The Persians tell a story about the rose and the nightingale. One day all the birds appeared before King Solomon, who understood their language, to accuse the nightingale of disturbing their slumber. The nightingale explained that the rose waited for his song to come forth from the bud and that he loved the rose so much that he could not wait to see the beautiful flower unfold. He was acquitted and ever since then, the song of the nightingale is heard in the summer night.

Births

A ten and one-half pound son was born Friday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunsirn, 1129 Ryan street.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM COUNTY AND STATE

M'COY ASSAILS RADICAL LEAGUE

Many Republicans Hear Democratic Candidate's Speech at Melrose.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Melrose, Wis.—Col. Robert B. McCoy, Sparta, Democratic nominee for governor, assailed the Nonpartisan league and its candidate for governor, John J. Blaine, in his first speech since the primary here Monday night.

Col. McCoy pictured the disastrous results of the league's legislation in North Dakota, and declared that the Americanism of Wisconsin would never permit such a system.

Although the speech of Col. McCoy here was arranged hurriedly and not well announced hundreds came in automobiles from West Salem, Bangor, Taylor, Sparta and Black River Falls. The delegation from Black River Falls brought a band.

The large crowd which listened attentively to Col. McCoy's arraignment of the Nonpartisan league was composed mostly of Republicans. There was long and loud applause when the speaker told of two Republican newspapers which, since the primary, had pledged him their support because of Mr. Blaine's alignment with the league.

CASE COMPANY OFFICIAL QUITS CITY FOR FARM

Marinette, Wis.—H. F. Crandall, for ten years general superintendent of the J. I. Case Harvester Co., one of the leading farm implement men of the United States, has retired from business life and in association with H. P. Schooley, formerly of the Cream City Sash and Door Co., Milwaukee, has organized the Crandall Lake Farms corporation in Marinette county, Wis. The company will do dairying and breed Duroc Jersey hogs on a 420-acre farm now in process of development.

REPUBLICANS FOR M'COY IN WAUPACA COUNTY

Clintonville, Wis.—Col. Robert McCoy will be the choice for governor at the November election of many Republicans in this section, the nomination of John J. Blaine being unsatisfactory to them. Sentiment is rapidly crystallizing into concerted action. Harding-McCoy clubs are being organized.

In this city leading Republicans are outspoken in their purpose to vote for McCoy as against Blaine.

Julius Spearbraker, on the Republican county committee; C. B. Stanley, R. H. Morris, City Atty. O. J. Tillison, J. E. Mallik, leading merchants and many others voice their determination to vote for the Democratic candidate.

WOOL MARKET IS GETTING BETTER

State Division of Markets Looks for Much Activity Within Thirty Days.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison, Wis.—The division of markets reports a better condition of the wool market.

A little wool is being moved and the large goods firms are becoming more interested and buying small lots here and there. The American Woolen company announced the opening of their preparatory departments September 15, which brings some hope for a resumption of trading in wool. Within the next thirty days a change for the better is looked for and farmers who have held their wool will most likely profit by doing so.

The work of the wool pool in this state is progressing very favorably. Wool is being shipped to the central warehouse at Chicago, where it is being graded and held until the market is right for selling. Reports from other states where farmers' pools are operating show that the farmers are holding fast and are not disposed to sell until a favorable price is received. There are reports that a national wool pool may be organized later on. This would provide for the state pools all joined together in a national pool which plan would eliminate competition between the various state pools.

CROWD STANDS IN RAIN TO HEAR OLE HANSON

Manitowoc, Wis.—Hundreds stood in a shower here, Sunday night, to listen to the message brought by Ole Hanson, formerly the fighting mayor of Seattle, who spoke here from the courthouse steps. The night previous he spoke to a crowd of several hundred people at Two Rivers. Reported plans to interrupt his speech, by the Socialists here, failed to materialize.

OLD BATTLE COLORS TO BE ON DISPLAY

Wisconsin and Michigan Regimental Flags Will Be Seen at Reunion.

Milwaukee—One of the features of the Thirty-second division first annual reunion at Milwaukee, September 19, 20, 21, will be the presence of the battle flags or colors of all combat units of the Red Arrow division, which accompanied the units through the recent war. Practically all of them have seen hard service in other wars and actions, and have records well worth preserving. Noteworthy among these are the old First, Second and Third Wisconsin infantry colors having been in service since the inception of the Wisconsin National guard in 1881. The Spanish-American War and Mexican expedition gave them much wear, but the late European war added real luster to previous records in the minds of the Red Arrow members. The Michigan regimental colors have no less a brilliant record and for the first time in Michigan and Wisconsin history the national guard colors of these two states will be grouped in one place for a brief period.

All these colors have been cited for decoration with Croix de Guerre but the One Hundred Nineteenth, together with the One Hundred Twentieth and One Hundred Twenty-first Field artillery regiments of Wisconsin have not yet officially received the decoration. They will be decorated at the reunion in a patriotic ceremony on September 20, when it is also hoped that the One Hundred Forty-seventh Field artillery regiment of South Dakota, will receive the same honors. The One Hundred Forty-seventh Field artillery was in all the battles with the Thirty-second division, and as part of the Fifty-seventh Field artillery brigade, it gave that brigade the honor of being one of the only, if not the only, brigade, to have four regiments as its designated strength all during the war.

COMPANIONSHIP OF 65 YEARS ENDED BY DEATH

Merrill, Wis.—A companionship extending over sixty-five years ended Saturday morning when Mrs. August Rex died. The two were playmates living on adjacent farms in Dodge county when they were respectively 7 and 5 years of age. Mrs. Rex was born in Dodge county May 5, 1850, where she married forty-eight years ago to August Rex. They came to Merrill thirty-five years ago. Seven children, Mrs. Louis Freeman, Chicago; Henry, Des Moines; Fred, Gary; Mrs. Amelia Parlier, Merrill; Mrs. Thekla Hansen, Antigo; John, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Henrietta Knox, Chicago, fourteen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren survive. She was a member of the Women's Relief corps, the Maccabees, of which she was chaplain for twelve years, and St. Stephen's Evangelical church. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon from the Scott Memorial church, the Rev. M. M. Schmidt officiating.

GAME WARDENS WILL CONVENE IN CANADA

Madison, Wis.—Commissioners W. E. Barber and James Nevin of the conservation commission will attend the annual convention of the International Society of Fish and Game Commissioners at Ottawa, Canada, Sept. 22.

The convention will include the commissioners of Canada and all the states. The meeting, the first to be held in Canada, will consider the propagation and culture of fish and game. Laws establishing uniform rules regarding migratory birds which cross the international line have been recently passed by Canada. The purpose of the convention is to promote co-operation between Canada and the United States in the matter of game legislation.

Mr. Barber is one of the directors of the society and Mr. Nevin is vice president of the division of fisheries.

DALE PIONEER DIES AT HOME IN OHIO

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Dale—Ransom Griswold sold his 80 acre farm west of here to August Hanke, for $23,000. Mr. Hanke will take possession at once. Mr. Griswold has not decided where he will locate.

Relatives here were notified of the death at Ashland, Ohio, of Mrs. Gideon Leiby. Mr. and Mrs. Leiby were pioneer residents of Dale, coming here before the Civil war. They lived on the farm where Ralph Diley now lives, 2½ miles west of Dale. They moved to Ohio several years ago.

TOMAH COMPLAINS OF CUT IN MAIL SERVICE

Tomah, Wis.—Irritated by the action of the Milwaukee road management in ordering the stopping of train No. 55, due here at 4:55 a. m., discontinued, Tomah's business men have complained to the railroad commission. The order means that mail which No. 15 carried will not be received until 9:10 a. m., with a further delay in carrier service. After the stopping of train No. 15 was ordered discontinued, which shut out the possibility of getting a letter mailed eastward after 6 p. m., protest was made and now this further action in curtailing the city's mail and passenger service has angered business men and officials.

FRENCH PRAISE AMERICAN K. C.

John F. Martin Writes That Foch and Petain Laud War Activities.

By United Press Leased Wire

DePere, Wis.—John F. Martin, Green Bay, who went to France with the Knights of Columbus to present the Knights' statue of Lafayette to the city of Metz, writes a friend in this city as follows:

"We are having a wonderful trip. Every minute is filled with thrills, either by scenic beauty, wonderful agricultural attainments, most depressing war scenes, or receptions of boundless enthusiasm and warm hospitality. France loves America and if you could walk through the cemetery at Romange and view the hillside where 26,000 of our heroes lie in eternal sleep, you could easily understand why she loves us. The work of the Knights of Columbus during the war made a wonderful impression, if we accept as true the words of praise from such men as Foch, Petain, Mangin, as well as the spontaneous outbursts of welcome from men, women and children wherever we go.

"The striking feature of our receptions is that all classes and divisions partake in them."

Mr. Martin is a brother of Patrick H. Martin and Joseph Martin, the latter member of the Democratic national committee. All three are attorneys of Green Bay.

ALLEGED SLAYER FLEES FROM POSSE

Farmer Is Shot and Killed While Pursuing Alleged Chicken Thieves.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—A search lasting all of Tuesday for Douglas Moore, who is alleged to have shot and killed George Elliott, farmer and brick manufacturer near here, proved futile, it was learned when the posse which has been out on the trail returned to the city.

Elliott is said by relatives to have started Tuesday night for the barn with a milk pail when he saw two persons near the chicken coop. He is said to have chased the parties, and capturing one, found her to be a fifteen year old girl named Maggie Bock.

According to the story told the police by the relatives, while Elliott was questioning the girl as to her action in the barnyard, Moore came round the side of the house firing wildly. One of the shots hit Elliott, and he died a short time later.

It is reported here by the members of the posse that the Bock girl has now fled with Moore. Moore was employed by Elliott on his farm near here.

The dead man was about 45 years of age. One of his tenants was a man named J. Peters, with whose family the Bock girl was living at the time of the tragedy.

AIR MAIL JOB IS GIVEN TO BADGER

Lawson Airline Company Is First in United States to Get Contract.

Milwaukee.—To a Milwaukee concern has been awarded the first contract for carrying government mail by airplane.

On Tuesday the United States postoffice department let three air mail route contracts involving a consideration of $655,000 yearly to the Lawson Airline company of Milwaukee. The contracts call for service between Pittsburg and St. Louis, New York and Chicago, and New York and Atlanta.

Officials of the company announce that passengers as well as mail will be carried on each trip. Palatial air liners with wicker chairs, enclosed in glass windowed stream line bodies, are now being built for the service. Each will furnish accommodations for sixteen passengers, as well as the 1,500 pounds of mail which the contract specifies must be carried on each trip.

The first service is to start on the line between Pittsburg and St. Louis about Nov. 1. On the other two lines service will probably not be inaugurated until spring.

AUTOIST FLEES AFTER RUNNING DOWN CHILD

Jackson, Wis.—Chester Boesewetter, 4 year old son of Dr. A. C. Boesewetter, was run down by an automobile and thrown about 30 feet while attempting to cross the street. The automobile failed to stop, and according to the only eyewitness, kept up at the terrific rate of speed at which he says it had been going when it hit the child.

The child is badly injured. This is a climax to the speeding which has been going on almost unchecked in this village during the summer.

SUCCESSFUL FAIR ENDS IN OCONTO COUNTY

Oconto, Wis.—The best fair ever held in Oconto county has just closed, with an attendance for the three days, close to the 15,000 mark. The weather contrary to that of previous fair years, was ideal.

In most respects this year's fair is far ahead of other years in amount of exhibitions, every building being crowded to capacity, due largely to the extra premiums offered by the Oconto business men.

The $6,000,000 Oconto county industry, was represented by 184 head of pure bred livestock, comprising nine different pure bred herds. Of the six herds competing for the blue ribbon, and the $20 in gold, offered by Oconto National bank, the Ayershire herd of R. Peterson of Oconto Falls, carried off the honors. The second prize went to the Holstein herd of the Taryville Stock farm, owned by E. B. Dutton, of Abrams.

Gillett was declared the champions in baseball, defeating Abrams 4 to 3; Spruce, 14 to 4, and Marinette, 2 to 1.

D'ANNUNZIO CAPTURES ISLANDS NEAR FIUME

By United Press Leased Wire

Rome.—Gabriele D'Annunzio's forces announced the capture of the Islands of Arbe, Veglia and Cherz on Saturday, according to a dispatch from Fiume today.

Arbe, Veglia and Cherz are large islands south of Fiume, lying between the Istrian peninsula and Dalmatia. Several large towns are located on them. D'Annunzio may seek to include them in his new republic of "Quarnero."

UNFAIR PRACTICE CHARGE IS AIRED

Heads of Cheese Corporations Appear Before Division of Markets Today.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison—Subpoenaed to appear at the cheese hearing before the Division of Markets in the Common Council Chamber, City Hall, Milwaukee, at 10:00 o'clock Thursday morning are J. H. Wheeler, president of the Wisconsin Independent Cheese Dealrs' Association, Plymouth; C. E. Blodgtt, president of the C. E. Blodgett Cheese Company, Marshfield; Felix Pauly, president of the Pauly and Pauly Cheese Company, Manitowoc; C. A. Straubel, president of the C. A. Straubel Chees Company, Green Bay; Fred Dow, president of the Dow Cheese Company, Plymouth.

The hearing relates to the alleged unfair practice of cheese buyers, particularly at Marshfield and Plymouth, in failing to pay for practional weights of cheese. The complaint is that the dealers pay for only even pounds and take fractional pounds without payment. The loss to the factories producing the cheese, due to this practice, is estimated at several million pounds annually.

The attorney for th division of markets will preside at the hearing and present the case.

Close Courthouse

The courthouse will be closed Thursday afternoon, Sept. 16, in order to permit the county officials and employes of the various offices to attend the Hortonville Fair.

DEMANDS PROBE OF WIFE'S DEATH

Jack Jones Wants to Know Why His Distress Signals Were Not Answered.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Racine—A federal investigation will be demanded by Jack Jones, head of the Dill Pickle club of Chicago, whose wife, Anna Mitchell Jones, drowned in Lake Michigan Saturday night.

The investigation will be asked, Jones stated on Tuesday, to determine why his distress signals, which he asserts were sent up when he was 200 feet from the Racine reef light were unanswered. It was only after they were unable to get assistanec from the nearby shore, he says, that the boat capsized.

A demand that the efforts of the coast guards be continued until they find the ill-fated motor dory has also been filed by the artist, who declares he must have the boat to substantiate his story.

Henry Ernerson, Ephraim, Wis., the friend whom Jones and his bride visited while on their honeymoon cruise, arrived in Racine on Tuesday to aid in the search for the body of the young bride. He corroborated statements previously made by Jones concerning his visit to the northern part of the state.

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Look Out for Rheumatism As Winter Approaches

So many cases of Rheumatism come from a tiny disease germ that infests the blood, that physicians are beginning to realize that this source of the disease is becoming quite prevalent. Of course a disease that has its source in the blood cannot be reached by local remedies applied to the surface.

One remedy that has given splendid results in the treatment of Rheumatism is S.S.S., the fine old blood remedy that has been sold by druggists for more than fifty years. S.S.S. acts by driving out of the blood the disease germ that causes Rheumatism, thus affording real relief.

Begin taking S.S.S. today and if you will write a complete history of your case, our medical director will give you expert advice, without charge. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 151 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

If the Telephone Company is to grow in accordance with the public's needs and demands for service, those who finance it must be assured that its earning power will produce revenue sufficient to—

Provide modern equipment;
Maintain the property in perfect condition;
Pay fair wages to experienced and skillful employes;
Provide reserves to replace worn out property;
Pay the heavily increased taxes;
Pay bond interest, and a fair dividend to stockholders.

Rates govern earning power. If costs increase, rates must increase accordingly. Likewise, if costs decrease, later on, rates will be lowered.

Ford THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Why the Wise Buyer Is Buying Now

The wise buyer is buying his Ford now, not so much because he will have it in the Spring when cars are scarce and hard to get; he's buying it now because he realizes that the most delightful season to drive a car is in the fall; because of its utility in winter, and because deliveries are more satisfactory at this time.

You should follow the lead of the wise buyer and buy now, for remember: A Ford Car is not a seasonable proposition; it's the all year 'round car because it's the car that gets you 'round all the year.

Reasonably prompt delivery is assured now. Come in today and leave your order.

COUNTY HAY CROP IS ABOVE AVERAGE

Condition of Hay Here Is Better Than Average for Entire State.

Outagamie county's hay crop will surpass the five year average by only a few pounds per acre, according to an estimate prepared by Joseph A. Becker of the Wisconsin Cooperative Crop Reporting Service. Mr. Becker estimates a production of 1.7 tons of all tame hay this year as compared with a five year average of 1.68 tons. Timothy is expected to produce 1.5 tons per acre while the three year average is 1.47 tons.

Wisconsin's 1920 hay crop will total 5,041,000 tons, according to Mr. Becker. Production last year was 55,152,000 tons and the 5 year average (1915-19) 4,854,000 tons. Second crops of clover and alfalfa were short and the average yield of all hay was reduced accordingly. Due to the increased acreage this year, the total crop is almost equal to the 1919 crop.

Tame hay yielded 1.64 tons per acre, compared to 1.77 tons last year and a 5-year average of 1.66. Production is estimated at 4,610,000 tons, compared to 4,738,000 in 1919 and a 5-year average of 4,385,000. Quality is 96 per cent of a high medium grade, compared to a 10-year average of 94.

Wild hay yielded 1.27 tons per acre, compared to 1.36 last year and a 5-year average of 1.39 tons. Production is estimated at 431,000 tons, compared to 462,000 last year and a 5-year average of 486,000 tons. Quality is 92 per cent, compared to a 10-year average of 93.

The yield of timothy is estimated at 1.51 tons per acre, compared to 1.63 in 1919 and a 3-year average of 1.50 tons. Production is estimated at 612,000 tons, compared to 694,000 in 1919.

Alfalfa yielded 2.70 tons per acre, compared to 2.67 in 1919 and a 5-year average of 2.69 tons. Production is estimated at 235,000 tons, the largest in the history of this crop in Wisconsin compared to 160,000 in 1919 and a 3-year average of 155,000 tons.

Acreage of clover cut for seed is estimated at 109,000 acres, 89 per cent of the 1919 acreage of 124,000 acres, compared to a 5-year average of 98,000 acres. Condition on September 1 was 84 per cent, compared to 89 last year and a 10-year average of 84 per cent. Production is estimated at 229,000 bushels, compared to 248,000 produced in 1919 and a 5-year average of 248,000 bushels.

The Wisconsin apple crop this year will equal 3,579,000 bushels, compared to 3,676,000 forecasted last month, 2,700,000 produced in 1919 and 2,811,000 in 1918. Condition on September 1 was 74 per cent, compared to 66 a year ago and a 10-year average of 59 per cent.

Condition of pasture on September 1 was 70 per cent of normal, compared to 78 a month ago, 82 last year and a 5-year average of 81.

COX BOOSTS G. O. P. FUND TO 30 MILLION

Democratic Candidate Revises Figures on Republican Campaign Pot.

Boise, Idaho—A fund of from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 is being raised to defeat him, Gov. Cox of Ohio, declared during his tour of Idaho and eastern Oregon. Although the governor's charges heretofore were that the total opposition fund would be not less than $15,000,000, he raised that figure today.

The governor's statement was made during an hour's speech from the second story veranda of a Nampa, Idaho, hotel, in response to a question from his audience asking how he expected to return conditions to normal "when 80 per cent of the wealth is held by 2 per cent of the people."

Cox Makes a Promise

"If 80 per cent of the people will forget their politics," the governor replied, "and help me lick the 2 per cent that is raising a fund of from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 to beat me, we will make government an agency for the 100 per cent and not the 2 per cent.

TAKE STRAW VOTE ON PRESIDENCY

Local Drug Store Company Plans to Forecast Results of Election.

How Appleton and vicinity will vote in the presidential election may probably be determined by the two Downer drug stores, which are taking a "straw vote" on Harding and Cox. Separate ballot boxes for men and women have been placed in each store and the public is invited to register its choice.

The company plans to post a daily bulletin showing how the local vote is running. It will also be able to furnish state and national returns thru a similar voting arrangement in all of the 8,000 Rexall drug stores scattered throughout the United States.

The local stores will furnish a daily report to the state headquarters. The state summary will be telegraphed to the home office of the Rexall Drug company, Boston, where a national poll will be tabulated. Both the state and national offices will issue daily reports after October 1 which will be posted here for the benefit of the public. They will show the men's and women's votes separately.

The reports are expected to be accurate, because the Rexall company tabulated a million votes in the last campaign, and showed Wilson the winner. The returns from New Hampshire and California, doubtful states, were nearly 100 per cent accurate.

PARIS CONSIDERS WARRING ON RATS

Strategist Has Plan of Starving the 8,000,000 Rodents in City.

(By Henry Wood.)

Paris—Poor Paris is particularly unlucky this summer.

She had counted absolutely on a veritable invasion of rich Americans who would spend their good hard dollars in France to cause the rate of exchange to readjust.

As a matter of fact, owing to the lack of steamships, only a very limited number of Americans has come.

And now in place of this very desirable invasion, Paris finds herself invaded with rats. Health specialists and newspapermen who have been peeping into the subject place the number of rats now in Paris at about 8,000,000.

As a matter of fact the rats have all been here for some time past, but no one thought about them until a few cases of pest were discovered about the city. While it was quickly established that these cases were easily isolated, it was pointed out that if Paris' 8,000,000 rats should suddenly take it into their heads to see what they could do in the matter of propagating the pest or some other disease, they might make very considerable headway before the Paris health authorities, in a counter offensive, could pull off another battle of the Marne.

As a result of the necessity of putting the rats out of business, Paris is developing a number of health strategists whose plans are as hardy and as promising as were those of Joffre himself at the Marne.

One of these strategists, Professor Bordas says it is as easy as pie. He says he can starve out the whole 8,000,000 in a week. His campaign of action is as follows:

"Up to the present time we have never engaged a serious battle in France against the rats. From time to time we have let loose an occasional offensive but never with any spirit of continuity and never with any appreciable gains. It is now highly important that we take a well-defined plan of defense.

"Now the quickest and best way of getting rid of the rats is not to devise ways and means to kill them, but to devise ways and means to keep them from eating, and the way to do this is to change the present municipal service in such a manner that the garbage cans which are set out on the sidewalk by each family be collected and emptied at night instead of in the morning.

"Resting, as these garbage cans do, on the sidewalk all night, the rats have the advantage of time, of darkness, and of the absence of people on the street, in which to eat their fill therefrom. If those garbage cans were collected and emptied at night, instead, Paris would be free of rats within a week. They would die of starvation."

While Professor Bordas' Fochsonian offensive against the rats is under consideration the city council has decided to grant the public health department sufficient funds in which to undertake, should it be so decided some more expensive manner of turning the trick.

What is most important in a phonograph? Realism.

What is realism in a phonograph? Fidelity to the original. Faithful reproduction of the original.

After all is said and done, the best phonograph is the one which reproduces music with the greatest similarity to the original music.

There is one phonograph which literally Re-Creates music—that gives a result so perfect, so complete, so lifelike, that the Re-Creation cannot be distinguished from the original music when both are heard in direct comparison.

The NEW EDISON

The culmination of Thomas A. Edison's research work. It is the only phonograph that can sustain the test of direct comparison with living artists. Over 4,000 such public comparison-tests have been given, three of them in Appleton.

No other phonograph can sustain such a test in public.

YANKS HAVE CINCH WITH THE TIGERS

Ruth and Company Go Into Lead in American League Pennant Race.

Detroit.—New York went into the lead on Tuesday by defeating Detroit 12 to 3, while Cleveland was being shut out by Philadelphia. The Yankees hit Dauss and Ayers hard, while Shawkey kept Detroit's hits scattered and received perfect support. Ruth went to bat six times, drew three passes, made a sacrifice fly and flied out twice. Pratt, with four safe hits in six times at bat, led both clubs in hitting for the day.

Macks Down Indians

Cleveland.—Philadelphia scored an easy victory over Cleveland on Tuesday, 8 to 0. Rommell held the Indians to five hits, scattered through as many innings. Only three Clevelanders reached third, two being out each time. Philadelphia batted Caldwell and Morton hard.

Senators Blank Sox

Chicago—Chicago played erratic ball behind Hodge on Tuesday while Washington hit opportunely and shut out the locals by 7 to 0. Acosta, pitching for Washington, kept the locals' hits scattered and broke Eddie Collins' hitting streak. Collins had hit safely in twenty-two consecutive games before being stopped.

Boston Drops Game

St. Louis.—St. Louis hit Harper and Jones hard on Tuesday and defeated Boston, 7 to 4. The locals wasted but one hit. The visitors could do nothing with Davis until the eighth inning.

GEORGES PEEVED WITH U. S. SPORT SCRIBES

New York—Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion of Europe, carried a great big peeve with him when he stepped off the French liner, La Lorraine, here on Monday for his second invasion of America.

American sport writers who have been saying things about Georges, implying that as a pug he is a good movie hero, that he is no more anxious to fight Jack Dempsey than he is to spend the winter at the north pole, have aroused the ire of the handsome Frenchman.

Georges declared that he would make mincemeat out of Battling Levinsky on October 12 in their encounter here and show the sport writers that he could fight as well as "film."

Georges, in his wrath, even went so far as to swear he would not act in another movie until after he has met Jack Dempsey. He examined pictures of the Dempsey-Miske bout with interest, but refused to be in the least frightened by what happened to the St. Paul heavyweight.

"Ze biggaire zey aire ze harder zey fall," said Georges.

COACH WILCE MAKES SPLENDID SHOWING

Ohio State, Big Ten "Babe" a Few Years Ago, Is Now Setting Pace.

Back in the spring of 1913, Ohio State university, then the one-year-old "babe" of the western conference, was suffering from a bad case of colic. One of its best nurses, Jack Richards, now coach at the University of Wisconsin, had resigned as football mentor.

But before going he was asked to recommend a successor to look after the "babe." He complied with this request by naming a young man who had played under him several years before at Wisconsin. This man was secured, and since the fall of 1913 Dr. John W. Wilce has been in charge of football at Ohio State and the "babe" has grown to such proportions that it has captured two championships and now is to have the finest crib in the country, a stadium holding 65,000 people.

In addition to turning out successful football teams, Jack Wilce has handled intramural athletics at Ohio State until he has placed them on a much higher plane than in most of the other colleges of the country. And in his spare time, that he might better care for the "babe," he has taken a degree in medicine at Ohio State.

Although it is admitted by all, including Dr. Wilce, that Chic Harley, all-American halfback, did much to help Ohio State and the football coach, football experts who have watched the Buckeye team agree that it is coached almost perfectly. A student by nature, Wilce has made a scientific study of all methods of play from the Pacific to the Atlantic and every fall, after the western conference season is over, he travels to the east to see some of the big games.

Dr. Wilce, in addition to his knowledge of the game, is an exponent of clean play and Ohio State teams are penalized but seldom. Swearing is absolutely taboo in practice under the Ohio State coach and a regular man lose his position temporary for a sudden uncalled for outburst.

A football star himself in Wisconsin, where in 1905 he was picked as all-western fullback, Coach Wilce is becoming more and more famous as a developer of championship teams, until this last summer he was honored by being made head of the summer training school of coaches at Columbia university, a position that has come to but few western football men.

SOX ARE ALMOST OUT OF RUNNING

New York and Cleveland Are Gaining on White Sox in Pennant Chase.

(By L. R. Blanchard.)
By United Press Leased Wire

New York—National league ball clubs drifted along today like painted boats on a painted sea. With Brooklyn for the flagship, Cincinnati and New York tagged along. Yesterday the going was rough and all three went down.

The Cubs trounced Brooklyn, Philadelphia massacred Cincinnati and St. Louis attended to the Giants.

A fifty-fifty break for the Dodgers in the remaining thirteen games would force the Reds to win 16 out of 20 to cop and the Giants would have it 15 to 17.

The New York Yankees overcame Cleveland's one point lead in the American league and headed the race today.

Both Cleveland and Chicago were whipped. A slight continuation of the White Sox's losing streak will mean that the American league has a race between two clubs only.

NEW ELECTRIC POWER COMPANY IS ORGANIZED

Miss Florence Riordan and Harry E. Brooks of Appleton are among the three incorporators of the Badger Utility Company, a new concern capitalized at $20,000 which proposes to establish a power plant in the village of Pulaski. Two hundred shares of stock valued at $100 a share will be issued by the company.

It is said that plans are now being made for the construction of a power plant in Pulaski. Detailed plans will be discussed at a meeting of incorporators in DePere soon.

REDS HUMBLED BY PHILLIES, 21-10

Nine Errors by Moran's Champions Responsible for One-Sided Defeat.

Philadelphia—Philadelphia on Tuesday beat Cincinnati 21 to 10, gaining the lead in the first inning and maintaining it throughout. Five of the visitors' nine errors came in the first inning, in which Philadelphia scored six runs on one scratch hit. Daubert was the leading hitter.

Grants are Downed

New York—St. Louis defeated New York on Tuesday, 9 to 3, none of the four New York twirlers being able to stop the visitors. Schupp's effectiveness with men on bases is indicated by the fact that eleven New York players were left on the paths.

Stop Dodgers' Spurt

Brooklyn—Chicago broke Brooklyn's string of victories Tuesday by slugging three pitchers and winning, 10 to 2. Paskert played brilliantly in the field, a one handed running catch featuring. A postponed game is scheduled with Chicago on Wednesday.

START POURING CEMENT ON ROAD TO SEYMOUR

The work of pouring cement on the Appleton-Seymour road was commenced Tuesday morning and will be completed this fall preciding the weather is favorable. The highway being improved is between three and four miles long and enough cement to complete the contract has been delivered or is on the way. The grading was finished some time ago. The work is being done by the Gross Construction company.

VETERAN FIREMEN LEAVE THE FORCE

Capt. Spielbauer and Lieut. Whitefoot Resign After Long Service.

Capt. Michael Spielbauer and Lieut. Gustave Whitefoot, two of the oldest men of the fire department in point of service, have resigned. The former turned in his resignation Tuesday and will leave Saturday. Lieut. Whitefoot's resignation took effect September 6.

Both men were in the department when it was placed on a paid basis November 21, 1894 and have since served with No. 1 truck company. Capt. Spielbauer has served continuously for 24 years and seven months. Lieut. Whitefoot left the department and rejoined, and has served a total of 22 years and four months. There are only three or four men of the original force left, including Chief George P. McGillan.

Chief McGillan said that both men left the department because they could better themselves financially and otherwise in positions which they have accepted elsewhere. They will receive higher wages and will work only eight or nine hours each day.

The department petitioned the city council a short time ago for additional men so the two platoon system could be adopted. The men now serve continuously for 72 hours with 50 minutes allowed for meals, and have 24 hours off. They are really on duty 39 or 31 days a month, because they are subject to call while off duty.

The two platoon system would give the men either a 12 hour shift out of each 24, or an alternate arrangement of 24 hours on duty and 24 hours off. Only a few more men would be required to make this possible, and Chief McGillan believes it must come as the ultimate means of retaining an efficient fire fighting force. Over a hundred men have entered the department and left since it was changed from a volunteer to a paid system, some remaining only a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Meyer entertained several friends at their home last evening. Cards and stories were enjoyed.

MADMAN KILLS TWO PEOPLE IN AUTO

Man Fires Steel Jacketed Bullet Through Tonneau—Shot by Soldiers.

New York—"Mike" Mazurich, madman and former soldier, sent a bullet from an army rifle into a touring car occupied by a party of seven persons who were returning from a day's outing in Steelton, N. J.

The steel jacketed missile, which is guaranteed to penetrate one-quarter inch machine gun steel plate, pierced the right lung of Miss Sadie Felter and continued on through the body of her sister, Miss Susie Felter. The Misses Felter were school teachers in New Brunswick. They died Sunday afternoon at the Middlesex hospital.

Shot by Soldiers

Mazurich was shot in the abdomen by a member of a posse of soldiers from Camp Raritan, on the outskirts of New Brunswick, three hours after the crime. He was said later Sunday night to be in a serious condition in the Middlesex hospital, New Brunswick, where he is prisoner, charged with murder.

The soldiers said the shot had been fired at the suspect when he had drawn a knife and charged on them, after he had been encountered on a lonely road on the outskirts of the town.

Less than twenty years ago there were perhaps half a dozen newspapers in China. Today there are more than 200.

Fashion Revue

of AUTUMN — a Source of Infinite Inspiration for Wardrobes of Individuality

Opening Date, Thursday, Sept. 16. Continuing Friday and Saturday, Sept. 17 and 18

"Extremely Smart" Describes the New Fall Suits

The tendency is toward tailored models, but with short box coats fashionable, with the long redingote just as fashionable, with all sorts of belted styles in vogue and fur trimmed, with skirts that are narrow and skirts that are embellished with cording, tucks and much embroidery, you have a selection that is limited only by your personal preferences. Materials are Silvertone, Goldtone, Wool velour checks, Tricotine, Serge, Wool velour, Duvet de lain, Chamoisette, Peachbloom, etc.

Prices $27.50 to $125.00

AUTUMN COATS

Have a Luxurious Air

There are many utility coats which for practical purposes have avoided extensive trimmings and adornment. But in the fashionable wraps there is the luxury of large draped collars and also fine fur collars, cuffs and pockets. Brown, in its many variations is the predominating color. Such fabrics as Tweeds, Tinseltone, Plumette, Evora, Duvet de lain, Mishi, Silvertip Bolivia, Velour, Peachbloom, Chamoistyn and Ondulet indicate that even materials have a fashion interest wrapped up in their names.

Prices from—

$20.00 up to $150.00

Coats of Peco Plush, Baffin Seal, Sealskinette, Yukon Seal, etc. Prices range from $37.50 to $185.00.

FURS

The Index to Correct Fashions

It may only be a choker snugly wrapped about the neck or a scarf or a stole thrown over the shoulder, or a luxurious coat; but fur in some form it must be, if one wishes her attire to be regarded as completely fashionable. This varied showing includes patterns of leading furriers who have used only pelts of the highest grade in developing the new modes. Coats of French Coney, Near Seal, Zealand Seal, Pony, Hudson Seal, range in price from—

$110.00 to $550.00

A great variety of styles in Chokers Animal scarfs, Throws, Capes and muffs in Coney, Sealine, Raccoon Manchurian Wolf Fox, Lynx, Wolf, Cross Fox Hudson Seal, Beaver, Nutria, Jap Mink, Martin, Moufion, etc.

CLOTHES are the outward indication of a woman's character. They may also mark her as a person of taste. With true appreciation of art in dress and an ability to distinguish between mere whims of fashion and modes destined to reign undisputed throughout the season, we have assembled for your approval the most desirable of the new in FROCKS, SUITS, COATS, and other Autumn essentials. So one may accept these Exposition displays as authoritative guides to smart and distinctive wardrobes. Aside from presenting apparel values of striking character they offer the fashion-loving woman a wealth of inspiration and help.

Fabrics That Challenge Scissors, Needles and Nimble Fingers

This showing predicts a lively sewing season, for here are materials that have anticipated everything which women want to make. Beautiful satin meteors, taffetas, velvets and crepe de chines suggest one silk frock, blouse, or skirt after another. Woolens of rich colorings and durable textures are here for that modish suit, frock or wrap. Home seamstresses will find this an occasion that will help them plan their sewing program.

The Newest Trimmings Are Here to Match in Color or Style Any of the Above Fabrics.

Jet and Braid Bands Are Very Popular.

The Opening of Autumn Millinery

The new styles in hats for Fall are bound to be becoming, for there are hats for every type of face and figure. Some are with large picturesque brims and others with no brims at all. Duvetyns and velvets are pronounced. The trimmings—ostrich fancies, with the long graceful sweeping lines, wings, ribbons and brilliant metal embroideries, give these hats smartness and exclusiveness, virtually giving everyone a personality.

New Autumn Frocks for Every Hour of the Day

There are frocks of wool and frocks of silk. Chemise frocks and frocks that take no coat lines. Frocks with floating panels, others with tunics and surplice bodices—almost no end to the style variations, fabrics and modes of trimming. These are refreshing to see in Charmeuse, Tricolette, Satin, Georgette combinations of Satin and Lace, Serge, Tricotine, Poiret Twill, etc.

Accessories of Dress for Autumn

It may be depended upon that no small detail is overlooked by the well groomed woman. Our collection of smart Neckwear—tailored and elaborate is typical of the completeness and up-to-dateness of other dress accessories, as, for instance RAIN or SHINE UMBRELLAS, HANDKERCHIEFS, HOSIERY, VEILING, PERFUMES, RIBBONS, NOVELTY JEWELRY, HAND BAGS and an extensive line of GLOVES.

Smart Separate Skirts Belong In Every Wardrobe

In this day every woman simply must have several separate skirts for wear with sweaters, sports coats, and blouses of all sorts. There are handsome wool checks, plaid and striped models abundantly knife-plaited in a surprising variety of ways. Also navy and black serge, silk poplin, satin, charmeuse, etc., priced from

$7.50 to $25.00

Blouses For Fall, New and Different

No particular style prevails in blouses this season. Fashion refuses to be held down to one style, one sleeve length, or any one color. And accordingly presents hosts of blouses with frills and Jabots, filet lace trimmed Georgettes, striped Crepe de Chines, and many novelties in Shantung and Taffetas.

New Sweaters For The Outdoor Days of Autumn

The genuine sweater days are here—likewise the Sweaters. One glimpse of the new Models will be enough for any woman to decide wisely, that she needs one, and perhaps more for Autumn wear. Tuxedo, surplice and slip-over styles continue in popularity, while new blouse styles with fashionably braided girdles and odd weaves are among the latest arrivals.

Corsets to Groom the Figure for the New Modes

An easy, graceful figure is as much every woman's desire in Autumn as it is at any other time, and as it rests with her corset the discerning woman will choose it before she has even planned the rest of her Fall wardrobe.

Miss Roth, factory representative and expert corsetiere, has charge of all Gossard Corset fittings during Opening Week. You are invited to meet Miss Roth and discuss your corset problems. Only three days left of her stay with us.
